

Arterial Spur to Thruway Opened Today Floor Fights Loom for GOP Convention

All-Night Parley on Platform Dems' Promises Called Expensive

By JACK BELL
and WILLIAM T. PEACOCK
CONVENTION HALL, Chicago (AP)—A roaring all-night fight over the party stand on civil rights tossed a shower of fireworks into the opening today of the Republican convention. It had once looked like a placid gathering for nomination of Richard M. Nixon for president.

As the party faithful trooped into this big hall, close by the stockyards, it was hard to spot any of the 103 members of the platform-writing committee.

Scrap Until Dawn
Many of them had scrapped till dawn in a battle that saw moderate tone down, at least slightly, the liberal GOP glow emanating from the weekend Nixon-Rockefeller pronouncement of views.

The exact wording of the civil rights plank that came out of this battle was kept secret for the moment. But the word to newsmen was that it contained a mixture of moderate and liberal proposals.

Both sides talked of a possible floor battle Wednesday when the committee's work will be submitted to the convention.

Nixon told an airport news conference in the capital that "I certainly will" support a floor fight for a strong civil rights plank if necessary.

Rocky Will Fight
Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York also was prepared to battle on the convention floor for his ideas.

Today's forenoon convention session was strictly a routine affair, devoted to welcoming addresses and preliminary organization.

Yet it was an occasion also for getting off some initial shots at the common enemy—the Democrats.

Sen. Thurston B. Morton of Kentucky, national chairman, hoisted at the podiums he said had been made to everybody in the Democratic platform. To carry them out, he declared, would add 15 to 20 billion dollars a year to government costs.

To Be Realistic
Morton said the Republicans would adopt "a realistic, honest platform that we can and will fulfill."

The Kentucky senator is one of those figuring high in speculation about a possible vice-presidential nomination.

State Will Need Bigger Job Force In Next Decade

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—Industry will be forced to hire larger numbers of youths, older people, women, non-whites and Puerto Ricans to fill the jobs that will be available in New York State in the next decade, the State Labor Department predicts.

In a forecast based on a department study of expected changes in the state manpower situation from 1960 to 1970, the department said public and private employers will have 1,370,000 more jobs to fill in 1970 than in 1957, despite increasing use of labor-saving devices.

The state's civilian labor force will increase by approximately 1,455,000 from the 1957 level during the next 10 years, the department said Saturday.

Youth will make up 44 per cent of the increase and older workers 51 per cent. Non-whites and Puerto Ricans will have relatively more of their group in the prime working ages than will whites, the department said.

Women will contribute 53 per cent of the total increase in the work force.

Fewer workers will be required for production, the report continued, but more will be needed in service occupations.

Trade, finance, insurance, real estate, personal and business services and government all will have greater than average growth. Farm employment will continue to decline.

Wanted Money to Bail Sister Faces 7 Felony Charges In Kidnap, Gun Affray

GREAT NECK, N.Y. (AP)—A male nurse who wounded a prominent Long Island attorney and kidnapped his red-haired wife faced the prospect today of seven felony charges.

Nassau County detective chief Stuyvesant Pinnell said Sunday he will charge 30-year-old Reuben Black, father of two, with kidnapping, burglary, two counts of grand larceny, two assault counts and illegal possession of a gun.

Conviction on the kidnapping charge alone could mean life imprisonment.

Meanwhile, Black, arrested in Bethany, Conn., Saturday after a wild, 100-mile-an-hour abduction ride ahead of pursuing police, expressed remorse Sunday.

"I'm awfully sorry for what I did," he lamented in his cell in New Haven County Jail.

Admits Drinking
"I'd been drinking," he continued. "Gee whiz, I didn't mean to shoot him. I just wanted money to get my sister out of jail."

Black, a Negro, was held in $100,000 bail pending extradition. The man he shot was Leonard Rothkrug, 32, reported in fair condition.

Auto Shatters Kaplan Window and Displays

Three window sections were shattered and two furniture displays were sent crashing inside the store when a car went out of control and swerved into the building of the Kaplan Furniture Co., Inc., Crown and North Front Street Saturday afternoon.

Adrian Kaplan, secretary and treasurer of the company, said he had just left the window area about 15 minutes before the mishap. Damage, he said, was considerable, but he had not arrived at a full estimate of its extent today.

Several customers, store employees, and his brother, Harry Kaplan, president of the company, he said were safely beyond the path of the car when it crashed through the show window section on the Crown Street side.

The car, police said, was driven by Robert Allen Skerritt, 64, of Hurley. Exact cause of the mishap was still undetermined today.

Police said no injuries were reported as a direct result of the mishap, but that Mr. Skerritt was under treatment at Kingston Hospital. His condition today was reported as "fair."

A display of bedroom furniture were pushed back into the store and the car crashed inside for nearly its full length. Sections of window sill and moulding and other store areas were damaged. The window area involved was about 20 feet wide and 10 feet high.

Employees of the store who were also in another area at the time were Paul Kaman, William (Continued on Page 8, Col. 2)

New York's Delegation Will Fight Rocky to Stand By His Platform

By ROBERT T. GRAY
CHICAGO (AP)—New York's big delegation, under the firm control of Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, was ready today to spearhead a convention floor fight for the platform he worked out with Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

Opposition developed in the platform committee to some parts of the Nixon-Rockefeller agreement.

While siding with Nixon in the platform fight, Rockefeller still was unwilling to release the New York delegates to endorse the vice president as the Republican presidential nominee.

The governor postponed until a meeting of the delegation Tuesday afternoon any decision on a presidential nominee.

The convention will select its nominee Wednesday night. Nixon, the only declared candidate, is considered assured of the assignment.

Open to Draft
Rockefeller has continued to hold himself open to a draft, even while conceding that his chances of getting one are almost nonexistent.

His plans to meet today with the Montana, Wyoming and New Mexico delegations, and Tuesday with Illinois, helped keep alive speculation the New York governor still has hopes of winning the nomination.

Rockefeller aide said his meetings with the other states would involve only discussions on the platform.

Press secretary Robert McManus, said the various delegations had invited Rockefeller to appear and that he had not sought the meetings.

The governor said Sunday he saw little evidence of any support for a draft for him.

Other Developments
Other developments in the Rockefeller camp:

1. The 36-vote New York delegation, of which Rockefeller is chairman, voted unanimously to back the 14-point platform agreement between the governor and Nixon and to let the convention know how the state stood.

2. Republican State Chairman L. Judson Morhouse was named chairman of a committee to nominate a New Yorker as a favorite-son candidate for Vice President. Sen. Kenneth B. Keating was being mentioned prominently along with several other possibilities.

3. The governor, asked at every turn whether he would accept the nomination (Continued on Page 8, Col. 2)

12 Traffic Deaths Reported, 6 Lose Lives by Drowning

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—Traffic accidents in New York State took 12 lives over the weekend. Six other persons were drowned and three died in other types of accidents.

Two accidents during the period from 6 p.m. Friday to midnight Sunday night each took two lives.

Dudley Hooker, 56, and his wife, Alice, of Canajoharie, were killed in an automobile-truck collision Saturday night on a narrow road two miles west of Canajoharie.

At Prattville, Greene County, Jane Ellen Moseman, 15, of East Meredith, stepped into a deep pool while wading in Schoharie Creek and disappeared. Her father, Percy, 48, attempted to rescue her. Both were drowned.

Gerald Gowin, 39, of Rochester, perished in an attempt to rescue his wife from Lake Ontario near Rochester. Gowin was drowned. His wife was pulled from the water by a man in a passing boat.

Other fatal accidents, by community, during the period:

New York—Harold Kerrigan, 19, of New York, motorcycle struck a utility pole on Manhattan approach to the Brooklyn Bridge Friday night.

Malone—Sally Jane Cushman, 19, of Malone, car hit a tree off Route 37 Saturday.

Millwood—Arthur Malarza, 28, of Port Chester, two-car collision (Continued on Page 19, Col. 8)

U. S. Has Proof Reds Pushed RB47 Off Line

By MILTON BESSER
UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The United States declared today it has proof that Soviet fighters deliberately pushed a U. S. RB47 off its course and shot it down over international waters.

In a dramatic speech to the U. N. Security Council, U. S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge said "this astonishing and criminal fact is established beyond doubt by the evidence of our scientific devices."

Lodge produced charts to demonstrate his points, and denounced the Soviet Union for "flagrant disregard for the standards of international conduct."

Called Fabrication
He called the Soviet charges that the plane violated U.S.S.R. air space last July 1 a "complete fabrication" which must be dismissed as a poor attempt to cloak a wanton attack on a plane over international waters.

Lodge said he would introduce a resolution asking that the Council call for an impartial investigation of the entire incident, or a judgment on the case by the International Court of Justice.

"What actually happened was this: Before it (the plane) reached the point more than 50 miles north of Svatoy Nos, at which it was scheduled to turn northeast, a Soviet fighter pressed in from the seaward side and tried to force the plane off its course and into Soviet territory," Lodge said.

Caused Detour
"The Soviet fighter was successful in forcing our plane off its course and in delaying its planned turn to the northeast. It was not successful in forcing the plane into Soviet airspace. It caused our plane to make a detour. That detour is shown by the green line (on the chart). The prescribed course is shown by the black line."

"This astonishing and criminal fact is established beyond doubt by the evidence of our scientific devices, which followed the RB47 through all the events I have described."

Lodge Charges Lie
Somebody, Lodge said, lied about the incident.

"Only one conclusion can be drawn from this. The Soviet fighter was trying to make the RB47 fly southward over Soviet territory. There it could have been shot down on land. This attempt failed," Lodge said.

"Now we wonder why the Soviets have presented so many distortions about this. Perhaps the Soviet air force was reluctant to admit to Chairman Khrushchev that the aircraft could not be shot down over Soviet air space—for the good reason that it was not there—and therefore did not inform him of the facts."

"Perhaps they did not tell him that they had to go 200 miles from Cape Svatoy Nos to follow the RB47. Perhaps Chairman Khrushchev has been lied to. That is one possibility. There are others. We can all speculate."

Called Spy Mission
The Soviet Union has charged that the RB47 was on a spy mission over Soviet territory when it was shot down.

The Soviet delegation is pushing a resolution on its own to have the council condemn "continuing provocative actions by the Air Force of the United States" as aggressive and insist that the U. S. government stop such activities.

No Chance of Adoption

Find Body Of Physicist In Bathtub

The body of a 48-year-old unemployed New York City physicist was found in a bathtub filled with water at a Phoenixia motel Friday afternoon.

The death of George W. Powell was by drowning, Coroner Francis J. McCordle told The Freeman today. He withheld a verdict pending further investigation.

The man, reportedly living on a World War II pension for the past six months, had barricaded the door of the motel with heavy furniture.

McCordle said the body of the man, who had taken the motel room Thursday night, was found by the proprietor Friday afternoon when Powell failed to check out. Receiving no answer, he unlocked the door with a passkey but found it heavily barricaded with a sofa, chest of drawers and other items of furniture.

The proprietor then cut out a section of screen in a small window and a boy climbed through and removed the furniture from the door. The body was then discovered in a tub of water.

A physician was called who pronounced the man dead. Powell had apparently been dead for several hours, McCordle said that Powell was clad in his underclothes.

A large sealed envelope was found in the room addressed to a Kingston attorney, as well as a long list of people to be notified in the event of an emergency, McCordle said.

Was To Meet Fiancee
McCordle said investigation disclosed that Powell had planned to meet his fiancée, a New York City woman, in Kingston during the weekend. When the woman arrived Saturday morning, however, and called the local attorney she was advised of the circumstances of Powell's death.

The woman told Coroner McCordle that she and Powell were engaged and had planned to marry in about six months.

She said that the apparent eccentricities manifested by Powell were his normal habits, that he actually barricaded his bed

Officials Address 500 Crowd Road Progress Is Subject of Talks

The $2,500,000 one-and-a-half-mile-long arterial spur connecting the Thruway with the heart of the city was officially dedicated this morning five months ahead of schedule with a ribbon cutting by Miss Susan Jane Talbert, Miss New York State of 1961, and an address by J. Burch McMorran, state superintendent of public works.

Mayor Edwin F. Radel described Kingston's arterial route at this point of development as a "modern traffic system." He said he hoped that the safety factors would equal the quality of its facilities. He also foresaw with pleasurable anticipation, the removal in the near future of the Washington Avenue viaduct.

Some 500 persons gathered in the warm sun at Albany Avenue-Broadway junction with the spur to witness ceremonies opening the new link which will remove the congestion of through traffic from the city's main thoroughfares.

Cites Other Projects
McMorran said that opening of the spur was only one of a number of projects providing for a record volume of construction in Ulster County this year.

He cited a contract, which the Department of Public Works will let next month, involving the construction of Part 2 of Route 209, Kingston by-pass which will carry traffic from Route 28 to Route 9W.

"Like the project we dedicated here, this new $8,000,000 highway will relieve your streets of through traffic and promote the safety and convenience of motorists. Later, as plans are completed and funds become available, we will build the remaining section of the by-pass from Route 209 to Route 28."

Also on our current program are an estimated $900,000 widening and resurfacing projects designed to bring existing roads up to modern standards. This work has been started or scheduled on Routes 213, 209, and 9W in Kingston, Ellenville and Saugerties areas. At the same time the department's own forces will carry out another $100,000 in highway suacning and improvement projects on these and other routes.

Governor Knows Needs
"Now that this interstate arterial has been completed, I can assure you that we will also progress our plans for improvement of the Route 28 entrance (Continued on Page 8, Col. 4)

Father, Daughter Drown in Creek

A father and his 15-year-old daughter drowned Sunday afternoon in Schoharie Creek near Prattsville, Greene County, when the girl stepped into a hole while wading and her father attempted to save her.

Neither of them could swim, it was reported.

The bodies of Percy R. Moseman, 48, of East Meredith, near Delhi, Delaware County, and his daughter, Jane Ellen, were recovered from about nine feet of water. They had been submerged for approximately 20 minutes.

The father was fishing nearby when he heard his daughter's cries and plunged into the creek in a vain effort to save her.

The girl had been wading with her sister, Karen, 13, and a friend, Joyce Crans of Tillson. The families of Moseman and Crans had just finished a picnic dinner at Pratt Rock on the creek.

As Jane Ellen picked her way among the rocks in the creek her sister, Karen, warned her that the water was too deep and that she should be careful. Jane Ellen reportedly assured her that she didn't plan to take any chances.

The girl's body was recovered by Edwin C. Partridge of Caldwell and Edwin Brainerd of Prattsville. Elliot Brainerd and Carol Smith, both of Prattsville, recovered Moseman's body.

Greene County Coroner Albert Shaver of Prattsville issued a verdict of accidental deaths by drowning.

Ashby Starts Serving Six-Month Jail Term

Edwin W. Ashby, 61, former Ulster County Commissioner of Jurors, surrendered himself today to the jurisdiction of the Supreme Court and at 10:30 a. m. began serving a six-month jail sentence for perjury.

Ashby had been free on $1,000 bail, following conviction under two perjury counts arising out of testimony he gave before the special Grand Jury investigation graft in Ulster County. That bail had been forfeited last Friday on motion of Special Assistant Attorney General Bernard Tompkins when efforts by State Police to locate Ashby failed.

The bench warrant had been issued under a remittitur following a decision of the appellate court which held the indictment and conviction valid.

First to Go to Jail
Ashby is the first defendant in the Ulster County "kickback" probe to serve time after trial and conviction.

Former Town Superintendent Fred D. Shaver of Hardenberg, was given a five-day jail sentence for contempt. It was alleged he refused to answer questions when he appeared in court.

Writ of Error Asked
A motion pending before Supreme Court Justice Henry Clay Greenberg for a writ of error will be decided Monday, Aug. 1, at 10 a. m. Meanwhile Ashby remains in jail serving the six-month jail sentence imposed by Justice Greenberg.

Ashby appeared in Supreme Court at 10:20 this morning accompanied by his attorneys, N. LeVan Haver and John E. Egan.

His appearance in court today had been vouched for last Friday evening at a late session of the Court by Haver. At that time Justice Greenberg directed that State Police cease looking for Ashby, who had been described by Special Prosecutor Tompkins as a "fugitive," and the bench warrant for Ashby's arrest was held in abeyance pending his appearance in court today.

New Boss Takes Over Squads of Buffalo Police

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—Inspector Arthur J. Haun took over the Buffalo Police Department's anti-gambling and vice squads today amid the prospect of an extensive re-shuffling of the department.

Haun, a 36-year veteran of the force, was appointed to oversee the gambling, vice, and liquor details Friday by Mayor Frank A. Sedita. The move was prompted by recent State Investigation Commission charges of local police incompetence.

Police Commissioner Frank Felletta said Saturday that extensive personnel shifts would be made in the detective bureau and special squads, but he would not elaborate.

The Investigation Commission charged in public hearings here several weeks ago that gambling and vice was operating almost unchecked in Buffalo. The hearings followed the commission's Upstate gambling raids of last October, which brought more than 60 arrests here.

Wounded Man Is Identified by Kin, Missing 20 Years

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP)—A man critically wounded in a shooting here has been identified by relatives as a brother who vanished from his family's Long Island home 20 years ago.

He is Edward Chapman, 55, of nearby Fairport, a coin collector who was shot by burglars Thursday after they broke into his home, apparently in search of his collection, police said.

Chapman declined to give the name of a relative when questioned by police by records at a factory where he works listed Leon Slessinger of Huntington, L. I. as next-of-kin.

Slessinger and his brother, Samuel, and Mrs. Elizabeth Bolen of Freeport, L.I., later identified the wounded man as William Slessinger at Strong Memorial Hospital here. They said he left Huntington 20 years ago and had not contacted his family since.

His relatives gave no indication of why he had left Long Island. Police later arrested four men in the burglary. They were charged with assault, larceny, and robbery.

Ruffner Injured In Auto Mishap

Edmund B. "Tiny" Ruffner, 60, of High Falls, who suffered a painful mishap Sunday afternoon when his car smashed through the wall of a barn as he was parking it and plunged 10 feet into a field below, was re-

The Ulster county sheriff's office reported that Ruffner, a justice of the peace and well-known former radio and television announcer, was driving his car into the barn about 2 p. m. when the accelerator stuck, causing the vehicle to plunge through the west wall of the structure and into the field below. Ruffner reportedly suffered a broken right hip and painful abrasions.

The week's special activities produced the following. Monday a senior camp scavenger hunt was held. Winning pairs who succeeded in obtaining the entire list of items required were: Maureen Schatzel and Diane Lee; Joan Franklin and Sharolyn Kastner; Shawn Swartmiller and Charles Korzendorfer; Randall Kelder and Keith Jordan; Christine Locke and Patricia Naylor; Richard Johnson and Timothy Doyle; Nickolas Esposito and Riccardo Esposito; and Valary Jaenisch and Christine Johnson. The winning squad was composed of Robert Kramer, Robert Schwenk, David Raible, Joseph DuBois, John Latorre, Louis Fabiano, Justin Gould and James Longhi. Senior camp boys held a base hit baseball derby. First, second and third place winners were as follows: James Lee, Robert Kent and Willis Locke. Lee had a total of 11 base knocks. Kent followed with 10 hits and Locke wound up in third with nine base blows. The boys will receive ribbons for their achievements at the eighth week award night program.

Senior camp girls held a softball hit derby. Winners were: Christine Locke, 13 hits; Dolores Jump, 12 hits; and Theresa Stopczynski, 11 hits. Ribbons will also be awarded to these winners.

Thursday Junior camp held a "trail blazing" event. Winning campers who discovered the most trail signs were: Christine Olsen, David Pugliese, William Johnson and Robert Kramer.

Senior camp held a crafts and arts contest. Craft winners were: Dolores Jump, Nancy Rhymer, and Christine Johnson. Art winners were: Diane Lee, Valary Jaenisch, and Judith Kelderhouse.

Friday a hike to lookout rock was held in the morning. A cartoon show was held in the early afternoon with a song fest at the conclusion of camp. Other regular activities during the week included archery, nature study, baseball, softball, touch football, cook-outs, shuffleboard, horseshoes, badminton, swimming and boating contests.

The camp championships in all events will be held the sixth and seventh weeks of camp. There will be blue, red and white ribbons for first, second and third place winners. Certificates of achievements will also be awarded. Parents may still register their children for the final three weeks of camp by contacting the YMCA on Broadway, Kingston.

Ex-Gov. Long Is Politically Alive

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Louisiana's stormy former governor, Earl Kemp Long, isn't politically dead.

Almost counted out after a losing race for lieutenant governor last winter, Long, 64, stormed back into the political arena Saturday by running a close second in a field of three in his bid to unseat Rep. Harold McSweeney in Louisiana's Eighth District.

The patriarch of the family that has dominated Louisiana politics for more than three decades says he'll "certainly win" the primary runoff with McSweeney Aug. 27.

Long's first battle cry in the runoff campaign was a statement: "I'm going after Holt." His object is the 10,378 votes polled by Ben F. Holt, 34, Alexandria attorney.

Almost complete unofficial totals showed McSweeney had run about 3,700 votes ahead of Long. With 315 of 316 precincts counted, McSweeney had 29,854 to 26,128 for Long.

McSweeney, 34, completing his first term in Congress in the seat once held by Long's late brother, George S. Long, was equally confident of winning the runoff.

THE U. N. AND AFRICA

All the world is watching as the new born Republic of the Congo struggles to pull itself out of the blood and chaos into which it descended during the last few weeks.

Bound up with the future of this young African nation are the answers to many urgent questions. Not the least among them:

Can the natives of the Congo—and of the seeming multitudes of other emergent African countries—truly govern themselves as modern, civilized states?

Are the assaults on whites, the captures and the humiliations, the to-be-expected results of a deep and abiding hatred of Westerners? Is another gigantic segment of the world slipping into the embrace of communism?

Opinions about these questions are many, ranging from pessimism to — something more hopeful than pessimism. Yet no expression of outright despair on the part of the West has been forthcoming. Instead, from thinking Europeans, there have been admissions of error on the part of the white former rulers to properly prepare the Congolese for self-government.

Behind this sane self-criticism, whether or not it is entirely valid, lies a strong vote of confidence in the African Negro—confidence that will be meaningless, however, unless all aid is rushed to both the white and black victims of anarchy.

But there is hope, and the source of this hope is the action of the UN Security Council in its decision to send an international force to the Congo to restore order. Hope, because men of all nations have turned to the United Nations as the only means of alleviating the situation until a solution can be found.

The tension may continue, as it has in the Middle East where a tiny UN garrison still stands between Egypt and Israel. No real peace and no real democracy may come about in the Congo for a long time.

But the UN has been called and the major powers have allowed it to act. It again appears to be the only organization on which mid-20th-century men may reasonably place their hopes during this or any other time of trouble.

The U. S. slips up two satellites at a time. We may not have better ones than the Russians, but at this rate we'll soon have more.
Headline: U. S. Renews Egg Purchase Program. Laying in supplies for the presidential campaign?

Nixon agents kept a close eye on Democratic convention proceedings—maybe to find ways of injecting a little excitement into the coming GOP shindig.

It's not the heat, and it's not the humidity either. It's having to work instead of being able to relax in the shade beside a pool.

ELEMENTS OF CHANGE

Almost everyone realizes, whether dimly or keenly, that this generation is caught up in the movement of a fluid, rapidly changing society. This atmosphere of change pervades all aspects of modern life—political, economic, sociological.

It is good to be aware of this, to act in consciousness of change rather than merely to drift like a stick on the currents. This awareness can be heightened by focusing on specific aspects of what is happening.

There is not much difficulty about this when it comes to the political realm. The crash of toppling governments, the clamor made by those rising to power or striving for greater power, is on the front pages daily; we cannot escape knowing about such things unless we close our eyes and minds.

The news of development in certain other areas is less strident, but some of the quieter changes are transforming our lives significantly, almost without our knowledge. Consider the petrochemical in-

'These Days'

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

THE REPUBLICAN DILEMMA

The Democratic Convention contained three elements which must find points of agreement or go down to defeat. The three elements are:

1. The Big City Democrats;
2. The South;
3. The A.D.A.

The elements are divergent but their objective is to elect a Democratic President and a Democratic Congress and then they will try to settle their differences. Franklin D. Roosevelt generally managed to keep these divergent elements together in his person. He functioned somewhat like the British Crown—that is, emotional loyalty to Roosevelt became a substitute for rational response.

The Republicans do not have quite a similar situation, but they too have a division of forces which cannot be ignored. Their division is not as clear-cut as the Democratic one; definition is more difficult. But let us put it this way:

1. There is a remnant of Taft Republicanism which is conservative but not reactionary;
2. There are the newer Republicans who came in with Wendell Willkie and who desire a liberal Republican Party that co-exists with a liberal Democratic Party;
3. There are the Eisenhower Republicans, men and women who are unaccustomed to politics but who admire and even adore President Eisenhower.

Thus there is no genuine Republican image. It was possible in the days of Mark Hanna to describe a Republican with a degree of accuracy. That is altogether impossible today. It is for this reason that a degree of paralysis has been noted in the Eisenhower Administration which, having no majority in Congress, sought to function by executive action or by agreement with Lyndon Johnson. It was a tough position for a party and it would be a great advantage to the American people if the next President and the next Congress were of the same party.

President Eisenhower was not a dyed-in-the-wool Republican. He had been in the army most of his adult life and a professional army officer has no party. When Eisenhower decided to become a Republican, he had to learn the peculiarities of our political system which, of course, is nothing like the politics in the army. In civilian life, it is necessary for a man to be friendly with his opponent, as undoubtedly Kennedy and Nixon are and will be after the campaign. In the army, a senior officer who dislikes or distrusts a junior can have him moved out of his way. It was probably for that reason that President Eisenhower mistreated ex-President Truman.

It will not be possible for Vice President Nixon to accept full and unquestioning responsibility for the Eisenhower Administration. Nevertheless, the Democrats will make that their principal issue. For instance, they have already raised serious questions as to the competence of the Eisenhower Administration with regard to the economy of the nation. They have indicated that they intend to make such questions major in the campaign.

As John Kennedy discusses the farm problem, he sounds like a Taft Republican who knows how to use an adding machine; as Richard Nixon deal with this problem less conservatively? He could ask Kennedy as to who started this enormous stockpile of rotting farm products. The answer, of course, would have to be that this all goes way back to the days of Henry Wallace, but that answer is no good. It will not do in 1960 when Franklin D. Roosevelt is a mythological figure and Henry Wallace and Rexford Guy Tugwell are forgotten.

It will not do because a new generation exists who know Herbert Hoover as a kindly, elderly gentleman who writes books, and the Depression as something which happened before World War II. The emotional responses of each generation are its own and when one realizes how remote the 1930's are, the Republican Party will have to face the realities of today.

Peace and prosperity do not mean the same to a youngster in his 30's as they do to an older man in his 60's. I can recall when this nation went to war gaily, singing "Over There" and calling sauerkraut, Liberty Cabbage. That was a gay, optimistic, sure America that had no doubts about anything. That America does not exist among the younger generations of our people. And it is to many younger generations that Richard Nixon will have to appeal.

If one studies carefully the Democratic platform and John Kennedy's acceptance speech, they are not closely related. The platform was designed to please everybody; the acceptance speech asserted authority.

Oh, the Joys and the Aches

Of Driving a Small Car

By HAROLD T. HYMAN, M.D.

Written for Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

In a letter to the Journal of the American Medical Assn., Dr. Jerome M. Strauss Jr. of Chicago describes two new ailments that he attributes to the increasing popularity of small automobiles.

To avoid the wrath of sports car buffs and teen-weeney car fans I'll use phony names, although Dr. Strauss did not.

In "panther chest," the victim, usually a person taller than 5 feet 10 inches, complains of pain beneath the breastbone (sternum) and in or around the heart area (precordium).

Usually the pain comes on a few days after purchase of the new car. Often the complainant, who previously operated a car with automatic gear shift and power steering, now has to do with a manual shift and an arm-powered wheel.

Since examination reveals nothing more than some slight muscle tenderness and spasm in the affected area, it is often necessary to take a chest X-ray and an electrocardiogram before the middle-aged or elderly complainant especially can be assured that there is no underlying damage to ribs, lungs or heart.

In "schnellgang hip," the victim's complaints are located in the back and left hip.

Here the strain seems to be due to the twisting movement that is required when the person of average height is faced with the problem of entering or leaving the new car and the cramped position that has to be assumed during the drive because of limited leg and head room, especially if a hat is worn.

Unless the physician is alert to this newly described recreational affliction, he is apt to think his patient is suffering from sacroiliac strain, sciatica, lumbago or even the type of "kidney trouble" that is pictured in some patent medicine ads.

Most pathetic of all is the driver who suffers small car-itis in its most severe form. That is to say, the combination of "panther chest" with "schnellgang hip." He indeed is a person who merits tender public concern!

Might it not be possible for the public relations counsel of some rising (or fading) star to organize an all-night Telethon on behalf of these worthy victims of automotive progress?

Washington News

CHICAGO — NEA — With at least 14 candidates for the Republican vice presidential nomination in sight, all previous mentions that nobody wants to be the GOP "Mr. Throttlebottom" are out.

Vice President Richard M. Nixon refuses to discuss his preferences until he gets his hands on his own presidential nomination. He has stated what he thinks qualifies a man to be a "Veep."

He wants a man capable of becoming President. He does not believe either geographical or ideological balance is necessary on the ticket. He wants a man who will loyally support his own policies and is not a conflicting personality.

Nixon has not yet decided how he will pick his own running mate. He himself was the surprise vice presidential choice of a score or more of Candidate Dwight Eisenhower's political advisers in a sweaty Chicago hotel room eight years ago.

But this time the GOP presidential nominee is expected to do his own picking. He will not leave it up to a committee or a wide-open, convention free for all.

There is something good and something wrong about all the Veep possibilities put forward so far. So for ready reference, here is an alphabetical rundown on the principal characters, their virtues and vices:

Treasury Secretary Robert Anderson — Former Texas Democrat, now a Connecticut Republican. Personifies GOP fiscal policy. Doesn't want to be VP.

Rep. John W. Byrnes (Wis.) — Chairman of House GOP Policy Committee. Led overthrow of former leader Joe Martin in 1959. Not well known outside his own state.

Sen. Everett M. Dirksen (Ill.) — GOP minority leader backed by Gov. William G. Stratton. The late Sen. Robert Taft wanted him made Ike's VP in 1952.

Rep. Gerald R. Ford Jr. (Mich.) — Would greatly help the GOP in a key state. Strong Nixon supporter. A comer, but not yet too well known nationally.

Sen. Barry F. Goldwater (Ariz.) — The conservatives' conservative, also a presidential candidate. He would drive away labor vote.

Sen. Jacob K. Javits (N. Y.) — Plugged as a good bet to help the GOP carry critical big states and win Jewish support nationally. Not a likely choice.

Sen. Kenneth B. Keating (N. Y.) — Twelve years in the House, rode to Senate victory with Rockefeller in 1958. May lack West and Midwest appeal.

Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge Jr. (Mass.) — Battling Russia in the United Nations gives him national standing. Lost Senate seat to John F. Kennedy in 1952.

Labor Secretary Stephen Mitchell (N. J.) — Would have strong appeal to union labor and Catholics. Republican Old Guard thinks him too liberal.

Sen. Thurston B. Morton (Ky.) — Outstanding as GOP National Chairman. High on Nixon's list. From a Democratic state, but would appeal to the South.

Charles H. Percy (Ill.) — Smart young business executive who heads GOP platform committee. Otherwise a political novice who never ran for office.

Attorney General William P. Rogers (Md.) — One of Nixon's closest friends and advisers. Would probably prefer a Supreme Court appointment.

Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller (N. Y.) — Most Republicans would like to have him on the ticket as VP. But he says "no" and so now is taken at his word.

Interior Secretary Fred M. Seaton (Neb.) — An original Ike man. Well known in the West and the farm belt where the GOP can use strength. Less known in the East.

If any kind of a floor fight develops Wednesday, the vote on the vice presidency may be delayed until Thursday.

Choice for Vice-President Held Not Vital to Victory

By DAVID LAWRENCE

CHICAGO, July 24—In both parties there's been an over-emphasis on the Vice-Presidency. The selection—or failure to select any particular individual—in either case will not decisively influence the result.

If it's in the cards, for instance, for Nixon to carry New York State, he will do so irrespective of whether Gov. Rockefeller had been his running mate.

If, on the other hand, it's in the cards for Sen. Kennedy to win the election, he will do so without the states in the South he is supposed to have drawn to his banner by the selection of Lyndon Johnson as the Vice-Presidential nominee.

History proves that in not a single instance has the Vice-Presidential nominee of either party, by carrying his own state, contributed enough electoral votes to bring in his running mate. This has been true for more than 100 years.

Take the 1928 election for instance. Al Smith, who had three times been elected Governor of New York on the Democratic ticket, did not carry the electoral votes of his own state. As for his Vice-Presidential nominee, Joseph T. Robinson—who was nationally known because, like Lyndon Johnson, he was the Democratic leader of the Senate—the results after election day showed that he carried his home state of Arkansas all right, though by a reduced margin. But he couldn't prove his five other states of the Solid South from going Republican. This has often been attributed to the religious issue, but this writer always has believed it was related to the prohibition issue. For the South was determined at that time to keep its states dry because of circumstances related to the Negro problem.

1952 Recalled
Take next the 1952 campaign, when the Democrats thought it might be helpful to have a Southerner on the ticket. Sen. John Sparkman, the Vice-Presidential nominee, carried his home state of Alabama though by a greatly reduced majority as the Republicans piled up a vote in that state nearly four times what Dewey, the Republican Presidential nominee, got in either 1944 or 1948. But the presence of a Southerner on the ticket didn't prevent four other Southern states—Texas, Tennessee, Florida and Virginia—going Republican, and there was no religious issue involved either.

Take then the 1956 election when another Southerner, Sen. Estes Kefauver, was named for the Vice-Presidency on the Democratic ticket after a consistent string of victories in the primaries of several states in the North. The South didn't back him. Not only did he lose his own state of Tennessee but the Republicans also again carried Florida, Texas and Virginia, and added the electoral votes of Louisiana and the "border states" of Kentucky and West Virginia.

As for Democratic Presidential nominee Adlai Stevenson, he lost his home state of Illinois both in 1952 and 1956. His running mates in the two campaigns had no influence in his behalf in the Northern states.

Other Instances
There have, moreover, been instances in which the Vice-Presidential nominee lost his home state, but the party ticket won just the same. Thus, in 1940 Henry Wallace, Democratic candidate for the Vice-Presidency, failed to carry his own state of Iowa, but Franklin D. Roosevelt won the election. John Bricker carried his own state of Ohio as the Vice-Presidential nominee on the Republican ticket in 1944, while Presidential nominee Dewey failed to carry New York State and lost the election.

Another instance of failure of the Vice-Presidential nominee to help win the election was in 1948, when Earl Warren, former Governor of California and now Chief Justice of the United States, lost his home state while Dewey won his own state of New York. Yet the Republicans mistakenly thought in 1948 that the presence of Warren, the progressive, on the ticket would help them to victory nationally. The so-called logic of the convention hours somehow proves of little consequence by November.

How People Vote

When the American people vote in a Presidential election, they apparently either cast their ballots for the party they favor or the Presidential nominee they like—they don't stop to appraise the possibility that a Vice-Presidential nominee, if elected, might possibly be President some day. Indeed, seven Vice-Presidents have succeeded to the Presidency out of a total of 33 men who have held the office of President. Thus, about one out of five, or a little more than 21 per cent, of the Presidents have come to the White House through the Vice-Presidency. Three who succeeded to the Presidency were subsequently elected in their own right.

All this really suggests that each party should select for the second place on the ticket the best qualified man in its ranks irrespective of the geographical area in which he lives and irrespective of whether he can placate the dissidents of a certain ideological wing of his party. —Sen. George D. Aiken (R-Vt.).

the impressions which we make on other peoples are as important as Eleanor Roosevelt has been insisting with warning whoops whenever a picket lands in a gutter in a riot at a struck plant. But if it is true, then, that the Democratic Party, and especially her faction, the Adlai Stevenson rabble, made an impression on the lesser breeds which will not enhance the reputation of the U.S.A. For even as the toothsome and expensive Kennedy beauties were gathering ranks at their port of entry, all of them without official tickets but all apparently covered by some omnibus passport, a rabble of ominous riff-raff, young and old and of both sexes, including many beatniks, were stumbling toward another gate close by under Stevenson banners. That is to say banners in a manner of speaking. They carried pencilled cards on sticks, they bore aloft limp and half-torn photographs of Stevenson. They had long yellow sausage balloons with "Stevenson" stencilled on them.

They were frowsy, lame, whiskered and truculent. Some were 70 and many were hardly 20. It was the rabble associated in the public imagination with poverty and desperation and yet these Democrats were bearing down on a point only a few yards away from the Democrat Kennedy's beauty pageant. Somehow the alarm was sounded and they were scattered as Kennedy's parade of pretties went into their act for a candidate who had nothing to promise but austerity—fewer cars, last year's minks and chinchillas and rationed booze, so that he would have money to prepare to fight a war of survival against Roosevelt's regime, the Kremlin.

That may have been the summit of all such absurdity. If the Republicans are alert they will straighten their hats and ties and discard the pantaloons and putty noses of old tradition.

Cobleskill Fair Sets Opening for Aug. 24

COBLESKILL—Industries, as well as agriculture, will play a prominent part in the annual Sunshine Fair, scheduled to open at Cobleskill Wednesday, Aug. 24. Announcement was made today by T. Paul Kane, president of the Cobleskill Agricultural Society, and Dr. David W. Beard, secretary. Kane, who is Schoharie County district attorney, said that this will be the first time in nearly 90 years of the fair that industrial exhibits will be featured.

"There will be the usual emphasis on agriculture, agricultural products, and the farm, which have been the principal items of our economy these many years," said Kane. "However, industry has been growing in our county in recent years and our officials decided it was now time to show the thousands who will attend just what industry is doing in Schoharie County."

MISSILE MOBILITY—America's defense strength may one day be built around an on-the-move missile system such as shown in drawing above. Sketch by Association of American Railroads depicts Minuteman intercontinental ballistic missiles being raised into firing position from their special railroad car carriers. In event of attack, this scene would be duplicated in hundreds of places along the nation's thousands of miles of track. Minuteman, a solid-fuel rocket with a range of 6,000 miles, is expected to move into the testing stage at Cape Canaveral, Fla., in the near future. First boxcar carrier will be ready by the end of this year.

MISSILE TEST TRAIN—Fourteen U.S. railroads are participating in an experiment this summer to see if a Minuteman missile mobile defense system can be set up. The roads are: Union Pacific; Southern Pacific; Western Pacific; Denver and Rio Grande Western; Northern Pacific; Great Northern; Chicago and North Western; Soo Line; Illinois Central; Milwaukee Road; Chicago, Burlington and Quincy; and the Northern Railway. The test train will operate in the states shaded in Newsmap above. No missiles will be carried, however, as the test will merely explore problems in communications and control.

MISSILE-LAUNCHING CAR—This is the forerunner of a rail car which one day may transport and launch Minuteman intercontinental ballistic missiles as part of America's defense system. A technician at American Car and Foundry's plant in Berwick, Pa., checks loadings of steel tank and boxes containing sand, concrete and water to simulate the weights of the actual missile and its gear. A feature of the car is a "three-way stretch" system of cushioning to protect Minuteman from shocks in any direction.

Think It ThroughNO MORE SUMMITS

Beginning with Woodrow Wilson's "open covenants openly arrived at," he, Roosevelt, Truman and Eisenhower have indulged in the "new diplomacy" of summit conferences.

In practically all summits, we have sacrificed American principles and interests. There is too much pressure to come to some agreement. Wilson could have resisted the blandishments of Clemenceau, Orlando and Lloyd George if direct negotiations had been handled by his lieutenant, and he could say "no" from far-off Washington.

When negotiations are conducted by subordinates, in private, each can recede from an extreme position without "losing face." He does not have to talk "to the gallery" and take positions publicly from which he cannot recede.

In summit conferences, every word or intonation of voice is echoed around the world. The temptation is to make speeches for home consumption, to influence some coming election, or power struggle at home.

These things are worse now than ever, when nearly half the world is represented by barroom gangsters who hesitate at nothing to make propaganda for themselves and their satellites.

The prestige of a great nation should never be hazarded by putting the Head of State in a position where he can be personally and publicly abused.

The United Nations often makes similar mountains out of molehills.

The recent kidnapping by Israel of Eichmann from Argentina is a minor matter. But referred to the UN it becomes an international crisis and reverberates around the world.

A TWO-IN-ONE VALUEBooks Are Closed By State About Trolley Rules

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—Trolley cars were free of state supervision today, as well as out of business.

The Public Service Commission closed its books on an era when it revoked all its rules and regulations applying solely to streetcar transportation.

Streetcar operations ended in most major New York State cities in 1938. However, the last of the trolleys ran until April 7, 1957, when the Queensboro Bridge Railway Co. Inc. substituted buses for streetcars on its 6-mile Manhattan-Queens route in New York City.

The rules the Public Service Commission revoked Saturday prohibited smoking or carrying lighted cigars, cigarettes or pipes in trolleys, required operators to install and maintain adequate hand brakes and to heat the vehicles during cold weather.

Streetcar operations in the state reached a peak in the World War I era. Commission records show that, in 1917, trolley lines operated over more than 4,300 miles of track—1,839 of them in New York City.

Lacked Doughnuts

CHICAGO (AP)—The jet airliner that brought members of Vice President Richard M. Nixon's family to Chicago served its usual de luxe meal to first class passengers.

But Patricia Nixon, 14, wasn't quite satisfied. She left a note for the management, suggesting the addition of one of her favorite snacks—doughnuts.

Explanation

In general, parity means a fair price for farm products. The federal government figures it by comparing the cost of things a farmer has to buy and the services he has to pay for with the income he receives from his crops.

matter of FACT

Here is the story of perhaps the first "fence mender." In 1879 John Sherman, an Ohio statesman, arrived at his farm to find his fences sagging. Explaining his visit to reporters, he said, "I came purely on private business—to to repair my fences and look after neglected property." Since that time "fence mending" has meant "politicking" to most of us.

Happy TimesGolden-Ager Finds More Than Numbers in CensusBy MARIE DAERR

You won't get rich being a census taker, should you try for the job in 1970.

But, if you go at the job in the right spirit, you'll make a lot of friends, and have a lot of fun.

And, in the case of Arthur Ritter, 76, the assignment even opened the door to a job for the Christmas holiday season.

Ritter, retired railroad accountant, says he thinks people who will be retired by '70 should think seriously about trying the census job.

"I retired seven years ago from my railroad job. A year ago, my wife and I moved from New York State to Shaker Heights, Ohio, so we could be near our son, John," said Ritter.

"I was a census enumerator right in my own neighborhood. I'm a friendly sort of person. I'd wonder who lived in the apartments around ours. The census gave me a chance to find out."

"My official credentials were an 'Open sesame' for more than 400 doors. My job included enumerating 817 persons and placing 10,567 black spots in small circles across pages and pages of FOSDIC (Film Operated Sensing Device for Input to Computers).

"It involved returning again and again to find people at home, climbing endless stairs, often enlisting the help of custodians in finding out the coming-and-going habits of tenants."

On Ritter's route were many widows. There were young women who asked him jokingly to supply names of bachelors (he didn't), and bachelors who expressed no interest at all in obtaining names of the opposite sex.

"I was very much interested in an American-Chinese family," Ritter recalled. "The man was a Harvard graduate and curator in a museum."

"Then there was the young Swiss engineer whose fiancée had recently arrived from Europe. I had a nice visit with him."

"A retired lady doctor was on my list. I should have taken her with me when I called on a man, sick with a virus and with a nurse in attendance. He was lonesome and wanted to visit."

"I plan to see him again. I had interesting chats with retired railroaders, or their widows. There's always a feeling of fraternalism in the railroad world."

"I had the joy of visiting with a young married couple, seated side by side, hands clasped, talking about their coming parenthood. I was touched by their appreciation when I assured them of the joy and happiness in store for them."

"One of my most rewarding experiences came when I met a personnel-department official of the big department store which, last Christmas, turned me down on the kind of holiday job I was looking for."

"I told her I used to play

Santa for the Rotary Club, back home.

"Come see me this fall," she said. "You seem the kind of man we want for a Santa." I don't need to tell you I'll follow through on THAT!"

Q—How long must a person of 50 or older be disabled before he can apply for social security benefits?—M. R.

Q—If I report to social security that I expect to earn more than $1,200 during the year, will they send me a report form, or must I obtain this myself?—L. E. L.

Virginia Vols Are Team Winners at North-South Shoot

LAKE GEORGE, N.Y. (AP)—The Second Regiment, Virginia Volunteers, of Ellersboro, Va., easily won the team event of the Fort William Henry North-South musket shoot.

The eight-man Southern squad built up a wide margin Sunday in the marksmanship test with muzzle-loading, Civil War guns.

The Virginia Volunteers also won the inter-state title in the third annual shoot, defeating teams from New York, New Jersey and Pennsylvania.

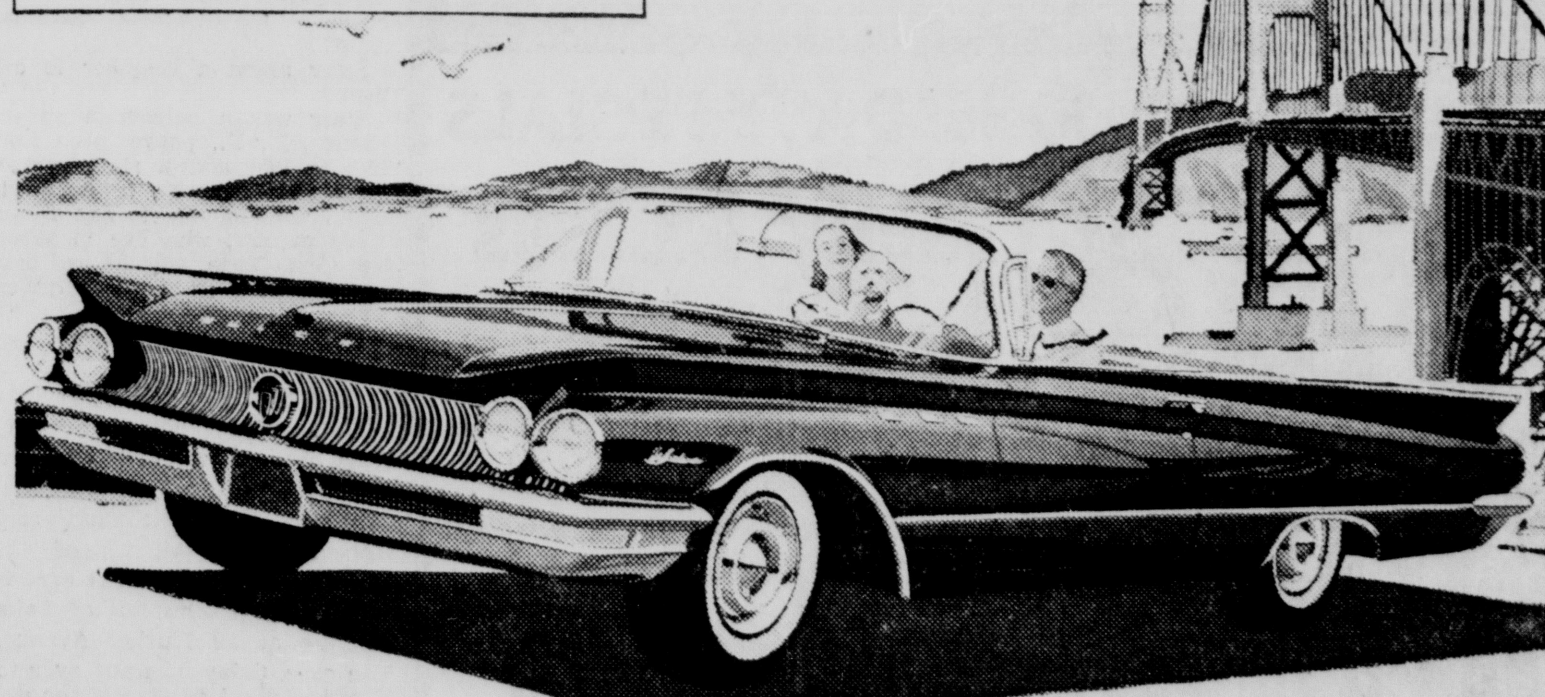

An estimated 10,000 spectators lined the shore of Lake George for the team shoot, main event of the two-day competition.

New York State Police, firing 38 caliber service revolvers, won the pistol event Saturday by defeating teams firing muzzle-loading pistols. New Jersey Battery B team of Laurel Springs, N.J., won the cannon event.

Individual winners were Joseph Yuhus of Laurel Springs, N.J., 25-yard pistol event; Harry Taylor of Norfolk, Va., 50-yard pistol match; Charles Colasa of Laurel Springs, N.J., 50-yard musket shoot; and Edward Smith of Norfolk, Va., 100-yard musket match.

Speed Up Congo Airlift of Troops

By RICHARD KASISCHKE
LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP)—The United Nations airlift of troops into the Congo speeded up today, and the total of forces deployed over the new African nation approached 7,500 men.

U.N. military officials were hopeful of having more than 10,000 multiracial troops in the country by the end of the week.

Oil Moving
With the port of Matadi again functioning, oil for Leopoldville and its big airlift airbase was being pumped through a pipeline and also was arriving by tank cars over the repaired railway line.

Maj. Gen. Raymond A. Wheeler, retired U. S. Army engineer who directed the clearing of the Suez Canal in 1956, arrived to help with oil operations at Matadi and for a troubleshooting job on the land transportation system.

The U.N. also expected the early arrival of pilots from Sweden, Norway, Brazil, Argentina and Yugoslavia to fly a special U.N. aircraft fleet.

Gives Planes
The U. S. Air Force handed over the fleet of planes, including helicopters and small aircraft, but refused to furnish air crews. The Soviet Union protested a U. S. Army transmission unit flown here last week to help in U.N. communications. American officials said they would return to Germany.

The U.N. mission announced it is pushing a crash program to meet the Congo's pressing medical and financial needs. Most of the remaining Belgian doctors in the country said they intend leaving, and World Health Organization officials were trying to get help locally and also to recruit staffs abroad.

The treasury and currency situation was reported so precarious that it appeared many Aug. 1 payrolls could not be met, and the long term outlook for replenishing government revenues was gloomy so long as the economy remained largely paralyzed.

The Congo's biggest political problem—what to do about the secession of rich Katanga province—apparently awaited U.N. Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjöld's arrival Thursday for a visit of three or four days.

Successors
John Tyler, Millard Fillmore, Andrew Johnson, Chester Arthur, Theodore Roosevelt, Calvin Coolidge and Harry Truman all became presidents of the United States because of the death of a president.

Capture One of 3 Escapees of Dannemora Prison

DANNEMORA, N. Y. (AP)—A state trooper today captured one of three convicts who escaped from Dannemora State Hospital for the criminal insane.

The fugitive, Luis Matos, 27, of Brooklyn, tried to hitch a ride with Trooper R. W. St. John on Route 9 in Keeseville, about 20 miles from this northern New York prison town.

St. John, driving his own automobile to work, recognized Matos from a picture the prison had distributed. Matos offered no resistance, the trooper said.

Matos told police he did not know where his fellow fugitives were, because the trio broke up shortly after escaping Saturday afternoon.

Still at large were Edward Blake, 39, of North White Plains, and Dean Bickle, 26, of Churchville, Monroe County, State Police, using bloodhounds searched the area for them.

The hospital said the men were not considered dangerous.

Matos had broken into a cement plant in Plattsburgh police said. There, he stole food and $20 in stamps, they said.

Troopers said there was a possibility the two still at large stole an automobile Sunday night from a summer camp at Rindge Hill, about seven miles from here.

The three walked away from the hospital. Blake and Bickle had been working in the pig pen at the hospital, and Matos in the dairy barn.

Blake, convicted of third-degree burglary in Westchester County, was due to be released in 1963.

Bickle was convicted of grand larceny in Monroe County. His release was scheduled for next January.

Matos was convicted of third-degree burglary in New York City. His term was to end in 1963.

ACCIDENT NEAR INTERCHANGE—This car owned by Grace Ferraro, of 17 Liberty Street, and driven by John F. Ferraro, 21, of the same address, was one of two damaged in a collision early Sunday at Broadway and St. James Street. The Ferraro car, police said, was headed east on Broadway, and the other, owned and operated by Ralph F. Masten, 3, of Box 271-B, Stone Ridge, was moving in the opposite direction. Occupants of neither reported injuries. Both were towed from the scene. Officers Gerald Every and Thomas Coffey investigated.

Two Thefts Here Over Weekend

Police today were investigating the theft of more than $800 from two places over the weekend.

A report Saturday said between $500 and $600 had been taken in a burglary at the Jamar Tavern, 30 Foxhall Avenue, and another today noted the theft of about $300 in payroll money from the plant of the Sidmore Manufacturing Co., Railroad Avenue.

Entrance to the tavern was made through a window, and that at Sidmore was made by the breaking of glass at street level and removal of a second-floor door. The money taken was in pay envelopes. A box of cigars was also reported missing. Detective Gurney Burger is investigating.

been working in the pig pen at the hospital, and Matos in the dairy barn.

Blake, convicted of third-degree burglary in Westchester County, was due to be released in 1963.

Bickle was convicted of grand larceny in Monroe County. His release was scheduled for next January.

Matos was convicted of third-degree burglary in New York City. His term was to end in 1963.

Former Trooper Of Wellsville Strangles Wife
SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—A former Elmira, N. Y., policeman and New York State trooper is being held today on suspicion of murdering a 28-year-old woman he married here three weeks ago.

Police said Gordon Starr, 28, admitted Sunday he strangled Mrs. Jeanette Starr because "She didn't love me." Her nude body was lying on a bed and Starr was sitting nearby reading a mystery novel when police arrived at the couple's apartment Saturday night.

Starr asked a neighbor to call them.

Starr was a patrolman on the Elmira, N. Y., police force from 1955 to 1957 and a state trooper in Wellsville, N. Y., from 1957 to 1959 before moving to San Diego. His parents, who live in suburban Chula Vista, said he had been working here as a truck driver.

Three Arrested On Assault Charges
Local police reported three arrests over the weekend on third degree assault charges.

A report early Sunday said Robert Krajewski, 22, of 454 Washington Avenue was arrested by George Shufeldt of Lake Katrine at 19 Hurley Avenue.

The case, today was put over to Tuesday night to permit the defendant time to obtain counsel.

Geoffrey T. Williams, 26, of 57 Tubby Street, was arrested on a warrant executed Saturday. The complainant was Patricia A. Williams. City Judge Aaron E. Klein today imposed a suspended sentence of 90 days in jail and placed the defendant on probation.

A charge lodged against Carl Miller, 19, of 583 Delaware Avenue, was withdrawn today. Police said he was arrested Sunday by his wife, Goldie.

Find Old Deed Of Woodstock Land; Seek Kin

An old deed conveying lands in the Town of Woodstock from M. Livingston and wife to Henry Lewis, recorded in Ulster County Clerk's office on January 24, 1853, together with other papers has been found in an old tool box owned by Mariam A. Hesse of Moriches Road, St. James, N. Y.

Ulster County Clerk Lawrence D. Craft has been asked to assist in locating any member of the Henry Lewis family who might be interested in the deed or other papers that were with the deed.

Mariam A. Hesse, in seeking the assistance of the county clerk, writes that the warranty deed, recorded in Book 84 of Deeds at Pages 344 and 345, on January 24, 1853, conveys lands in Woodstock. Beside the deed there were also found other papers which might be of interest to members of the Lewis family.

Any information regarding heirs of Henry Lewis may be sent to the Ulster County Clerk's office, Kingston.

The youngster had been sought by more than 350 men, including 150 soldiers from West Point. Bloodhounds also were used in the search.

The boy, Darryl Elliott, 5, disappeared when he strayed from a picnic ground. He strolled into Camp Robin Hood, and seemed in good shape. He said he slept "in the flowers" overnight.

He walked away from his parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Elliott of Brooklyn, for a drink of water at a fountain, and was not seen again. The Elliotts are Negroes.

A Mixed Blessing

Nixon, Rocky Agreement Turns Out to Be Full of Holes

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst
CHICAGO (AP) — Vice President Richard M. Nixon's sudden and secret journey to New York's Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller—just three days before the Republican convention opened here today—was a mixed blessing.

The two men reached what they called an agreement but it turned out to be an agreement with big holes in it. It looked like a shrewd political maneuver at first. But it may prove to have been a tactical error.

Isn't Quite Clear

It seemed at first that Rockefeller had put Nixon in his pocket or that Nixon had the governor in his pocket. But now that isn't clear, either.

It got the governor off Nixon's back, at least temporarily, but it angered some Republicans, and Democrats in the upcoming presidential campaign will probably try to wrap the whole business around Nixon's neck.

Rockefeller, for months critical of Nixon and the Eisenhower administration, only last week here in Chicago indicated he might continue his criticism if the Republican platform's promises fell short of his desires.

This was gruesome news for Nixon, almost certain to be the Republican presidential nominee, since he will probably have to carry New York if he hopes to win the November election.

The vision of a disgruntled Rockefeller, sitting on his hands during the campaign instead of trying to carry New York for the Republican ticket, spelled peril for Nixon. Late Friday Nixon tried to straighten things out.

He flew secretly from Washington to New York—apparently without consulting President Eisenhower or even his closest aides here in Chicago—to see the governor.

Time Lapse a Mystery

Rockefeller had complained repeatedly that Nixon wasn't taking either a clear enough or strong enough stand on some issues. Nixon therefore had had many weeks to reach an understanding with Rockefeller.

Why he waited to do so until almost the last minute before the convention is still a mystery. The obvious answer seems to be he felt he badly needed Rockefeller's support or was afraid the governor's continued criticism might ruin him.

In the end Rockefeller issued what both men called an agreement on "basic positions." But as Nixon later disclosed in a news conference there were some major gaps in that agreement which didn't show up in the text.

For example: while the agreement calls for strong defense efforts, Rockefeller feels the government should be spending immediately an additional 3½ million dollars. Nixon didn't agree on that.

The agreement doesn't mention any money item. Neither does the defense plank approved Sunday by the party platform committee which has been working here a week.

Rockefeller thinks major strikes should be settled by compulsory arbitration. Nixon doesn't agree. Neither did the platform committee in the labor plank it sanded and polished and presented to the public.

Who Captured Whom?

The sharp edge seemed to be removed from Rockefeller's attitude toward the platform—at least it appeared that way from his TV appearance Sunday—so the Nixonites may feel the vice president captured the governor.

But the very fact Nixon made what his critics may call a pilgrimage to the New Yorker may be interpreted as meaning the governor captured him and made him bow, to some extent, to Rockefeller's platform demands.

Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona, a friend of Nixon but also a representative of the Republican extreme right, called Nixon's trip a "surrender" and a sellout to the "Republican left."

Some members of the platform committee showed anger at the idea that Nixon and Rockefeller between them should draw up an agreement which, in effect, could be taken as a demand on the committee to conform.

Some of this committee resentment bubbled out when its subcommittee on civil rights refused to go nearly so far as Nixon and Rockefeller agreed the party should go on this issue.

In the 1944 campaign Republicans made capital of a report that President Roosevelt left selection of his vice presidential running mate up to a labor leader, Sidney Hillman, by saying, "clear it with Sidney."

This year it wouldn't be surprising if the Democrats try to turn this phrase around by jibing at Nixon that before he could start his campaign he had to "clear it with Rocky."

LEBANON, Ind. (AP) — Policeman Jim Stout asked a woman motorist for the engine number of her foreign car, so she could be issued a license plate. She told him to look under the hood. Stout looked — and found nothing but a spare tire, a jack and some tools. "Well, it must be in back," she added hastily. The policeman looked — and it was.

Puts Him at Odds With Rocky

President Thinks Defense Plank of Committee Good

By JAMES DEVLIN
NEWPORT, R.I. (AP) — President Eisenhower thinks the national defense plank recommended by the Republican platform committee is pretty good, the summer White House said today.

And that clearly lined the President up against New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller. Rockefeller has called the plank inadequate and says it "does not face up realistically to the dangers that threaten the nation."

The plank the platform committee recommended in Chicago, on the eve of the opening of the GOP national convention, praised Eisenhower's conduct of national defense and said it would be continued on a no-price-ceiling basis. Rockefeller has called for a $32-billion-dollar increase in defense spending this fiscal year. He and Vice President Richard M. Nixon, sure bet for the Republican presidential nomination, agreed over the weekend that there is need for an increase in military spending. But on that occasion they mentioned no specific figure.

Eisenhower for months has taken the position that defense spending is adequate.

The White House again today declined comment on the defense views of Rockefeller, who has indicated his big New York delegation may lead a convention floor fight when the platform comes up for a vote Wednesday.

Hagerty also refused again to comment on published reports that Henry Cabot Lodge, U. S. ambassador to the United Nations, is Eisenhower's choice for the vice-presidential nominee.

Eisenhower arranged to watch today's opening session of the convention on television at his Ft. Adams vacation quarters.

He will fly to Chicago Tuesday to address the convention in the evening.

On the President's agenda today was an inspection tour of a Polaris submarine. He also arranged to preside at a meeting of the National Security Council, a session which Hagerty describes as routine without any aspects of emergency.

The submarine the President arranged to inspect this afternoon is the Patrick Henry, a 380-foot sister ship of the George Washington, which fired the first two successful underwater Polaris missile shots last week off Cape Canaveral, Fla.

After the inspection, the President will observe a dummy shoot of the missile.

The President's press secretary, James C. Hagerty, advised newsmen at a news conference to wait for the President's convention speech to get his views on the GOP platform.

Hagerty gave the impression that Eisenhower is not altogether happy about all phases of the platform agreement reached by Vice President Richard M. Nixon, the odds-on choice for the GOP presidential nomination, and New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller.

But Hagerty rejected any suggestion that Nixon's agreement with Rockefeller, who has been critical of administration policy, constituted a "Munich" type of appeasement.

Sen. Barry Goldwater, a Republican right-wing leader, had denounced the Nixon-Rockefeller pact as a "Munich" surrender.

Floor Fights

Henry Cabot Lodge, ambassador to the United Nations.

Nixon will choose the vice-presidential nominee, as is traditional. At his meeting with reporters in Washington, he declined to discuss his choice for the spot except to say it will be a man who shares his views and one who would be qualified for the presidency if it should be necessary for him to take over that office.

Rockefeller probably would not let his name go before the convention as a presidential nominee.

Rockefeller to Blast

But Rockefeller remained an enigma, with his position largely incomprehensible to the average delegate moving in the make-believe world of tooting bands and shouting cohorts that precedes the usually dull convention routine.

From his subterranean position as a non-candidate for either place on the ticket, Rockefeller threatened to shoot off about the only missile that might enliven the prosaic proceedings.

Although he wouldn't say it in as many words, the New York governor's complaint was directed at the heart of the Eisenhower administration's defense program.

The convention platform committee adopted language saying the Republicans have provided and will continue to provide "the defenses we need to protect our freedom." The plank promised efforts to improve defense and said "there is no price ceiling on national defense."

Done Before Agreement

Rep. Glenard Lipscomb of California, chairman of the subcommittee which drafted the plank, said it was completed before Nixon and Rockefeller agreed on a statement of principles Friday night, and was not changed later.

This obviously wasn't enough for Rockefeller, who has said that the present level of outgo ought to be stepped up by 3½ billion dollars to provide an airborne alert, speed missile production and equip ground forces to cope with any brush fire wars that might break out.

Diluted He Says

The governor complained that all of the "action" words used in the defense statement he wrote and Nixon subscribed to had been diluted by the drafting committee.

"This plank does not face up realistically to the dangers that threaten the nation," Rockefeller said.

He said the plank promised only "continuing preservation of retaliatory strength—and I don't think we have that today."

He said in response to questions that he wouldn't go so far as to say that the balance of military power has shifted to the Soviets "but it is shifting."

What did he propose to do about it? Rockefeller said the New York delegation supported his view and it planned to take "a strong, vigorous position" on the matter when the platform is presented to the convention Tuesday.

There was implicit support from Nixon in this proposed protest to the convention.

The vice president said on a CBS television broadcast Sunday night that it has "become necessary to reappraise whatever we have done in the past and to allocate whatever increased expenditures are necessary to keep America's position at the strongest possible level, and that means stronger than any potential aggressor."

N. Y. Delegation

vice presidential nomination, said that, if forced into it, he would make the classic refusal: "I will not run if nominated, I will not serve if elected."

A Rockefeller aide on a television interview he would like to be president to work for adoption of the programs he considers necessary to solve national and international problems.

Not Happy With Defense

Rockefeller was not happy with some of the programs offered by the GOP platform committee. He said the defense plank "did not face up realistically to the dangers that face the nation."

The Nixon-Rockefeller agreement was drawn at an eight-hour, dramatic meeting between the two Friday night in New York City. Rockefeller said he would support "with pride and vigor" a platform that included the 14 proposals.

He has not said what he would do if the platform did not meet his standards.

Auto Shatters

Brophy of 407 Delaware Avenue and Kenneth Riel of 13 Warren Street.

A police report at 4:03 p. m., noted the mishap. Sgt. Julius Glassman with officers Sheldon O'Rourke, Ira Hadsel and Frank Kienly were sent to the area to investigate and to direct traffic. Police headquarters received several calls.

The car made a startling noise, phases of which appeared to last for several seconds, as it crashed through the glass, Adrian Kaplan said.

Financial Transactions

(Morgan Davis & Co.)

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market failed to hold a slight rise and went into another decline early this afternoon. Trading was slow.

Losses of fractions to about a point outnumbered an array of small gainers.

The market was a bit ahead on balance as the session started but there was no strong leadership and it wasn't long before the list showed more minus than plus signs.

A continuation of spotty earnings reports for the second quarter, the drift of steel production in typical summer doldrums, a reported slow-up in copper demand, and the uncertain international situation were factors.

Steels, autos, rails, tobaccos, and mail order-retails were among losers. Chemicals, aircrafts, and electronics were mixed.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was off 3.41 to 606.46. The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was off .30 to 213.70 with the industrials off .70, the rails up .20 and the utilities down .10.

Corporate bonds were irregular. U. S. government bonds were about unchanged.

Arterial Spur Opened Today to the city. This will involve the removal of the Washington Avenue railroad viaduct and the construction of a new bridge across Esopus Creek.

"These projects and plans are, I believe, convincing proof that Governor Rockefeller is aware of the highway needs of this area and is determined that they be met as rapidly as possible."

McMorran said he was interested to note that the spur improvement had been achieved without sacrificing any of the "color and character" of the city and that he earnestly hopes that future development, whether street, residential or industrial, will follow this pattern as clearly as possible.

One of Kingston's most appealing features, he said, is its colonial charm. "It is hard for a visitor here to realize that this is the commercial hub of a large and rapidly developing region. It is also hard to reconcile this quietly comfortable appearance with the fact that the IBM corporation, one of the nation's industrial giants, operates a major plant on the rim of the city."

He said the community has proved that the area "can absorb growth and change in many forms without losing its identity."

Wilson, Bush Happy

McMorran said he felt certain the opening of the spur was gratifying to Assemblyman Kenneth L. Wilson and State Senator E. Ogden Bush "who energetically promoted this facility. And I know this sentiment is shared by the many who served as our chief executive when we presented the arterial plan to the city—former Mayor Fred Stang."

He paid tribute to the firm, John Arbore Inc., of Poughkeepsie for having "progressed" the spur construction so rapidly and efficiently. He said the project was an excellent example of how federal aid has been used to promote the welfare of communities, that when the arterial plan was proposed it was to be constructed under the urban highway program, with the city paying half of the cost of right of way. By placing this on the interstate program, however, state and federal governments have saved the city many thousands of dollars, he pointed out.

Hopes for Safety

Kingston's arterial route at this point of development, said Mayor Radel, is a modern traffic system, and he hoped its safety factor would equal the best of its other facilities.

On the city end of the main traffic spur, he noted, is a radar-controlled traffic signal system and the best available lighting for night travel. The city, he said, through its Board of Public Works, has taken steps to improve lighting in an adjacent area — on Albany Avenue where it overpasses the mountain branch of the New York Central Railroad.

Last year, he recalled, "when Kingston was observing 'The Year of History,' as part of a statewide program, the air loudly 'was alive with the sound of bulldozers' and other equipment in the construction of the major traffic route was in progress, and the results now achieved, has brought to the city and general area a modern system of travel and traffic interchange."

Looks to Future

Now that this is a reality, he said, he hopes that the people of the area are again soon to hear a new drone of construction equipment for removal of the Washington Avenue viaduct and the bypass project it contributed in the change of a western boulevard line to facilitate construction in an area along the Esopus Creek. The change establishes nearly 50 acres of former city land in the Town of Ulster. The move precluded the need for spanning the creek and reduced construction costs.

Notes Cooperation

The Common Council has cooperated in all instances where its action was required, he said, and this plus state and county cooperation, has, at this point, brought the city a modern route that will facilitate travel in the city and general area around it.

The mayor said he was pleased to see Susan Jane Talbert, recently in Kingston gained the title of Miss New York State, as OFFICIALS ATTEND CEREMONIES — Among those present this morning for the official opening of the Arterial Spur connecting Kingston City with the New York State Thruway were (l-r) George E. of Ulster; Jesse McHugh, supervisor of the Town of Shawangunk and vice chairman of the Ulster County Republican committee; Senator E. a participant in the program and he hoped that the people of the city and vicinity would have other opportunities to see her again.

Other Speakers

Howard C. St. John, chairman of the arterial dedication committee of the Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce, served as master of ceremonies and introduced the speakers.

Edward F. Koch, division engineer, U. S. Bureau of Public Roads, congratulated Kingston and the Department of Public Works on the excellent new interstate highway facility, saying that the state had enjoyed a number of such projects and would enjoy many more. He praised the Department of Public Works for its promptness in using such funds under the interstate plan without unnecessary delay.

Alexander Banyo, supervisor of Town of Ulster in which a portion of the spur lies, said the ceremony was testimony of the foresight of Senator Bush, Assemblyman Wilson and the Department of Public Works in sponsoring special legislation which would make the highway spur possible.

Refers to Ulster Growth

He said that only a short five or six years ago, the Town of Ulster was identified by saying that it lay just outside the City of Kingston but that the arrival of IBM and the doubling of the town's population during the past 10 years to more than 8,000 in the 1960 census had made it a unit of very considerable importance in its own right. He said many new business of various kinds had located in the township and that the next five years would see a tremendous growth, demanding an ever expanding and improving network of roads. Banyo said the spur would eliminate a large percentage of traffic congestion and make travel much safer.

Holden A. Evans Jr., general manager of New York State Thruway, in brief remarks said that the community has in the opening of the spur an opportunity to see an excellent example of the magnificent highway which is the Thruway, a system without parallel, built to the highest possible standards, and that he hoped the people would use the road safely and sanely.

Wharton Speaks

Congressman J. Ernest Wharton, Republican candidate for reelection from the 29th Congressional District, said there are now so many smaller states in the Congress that New York State is fortunate if it gets a substantial portion of its tax monies back from Washington.

Wharton said the Thruway and Kingston spur were an outstanding example of achievement. He extended his best wishes to residents of the area. Senator Bush was introduced and also congratulated the officials and community on the opening of the new spur.

Invocation was by the Rev. Francis X. Toner of St. Mary's Church, prayer by Rabbi Jacob I. Rubenstein of Congregation Ahavath Israel, and Benediction by the Rev. Henry M. Hansen, pastor of Ponckhockie Congregational Church.

Music was provided by the Kingston Concert Band through the courtesy of Local 215, American Federation of Musicians.

The principal speaker was introduced by Jesse McHugh, majority leader of Ulster County Board of Supervisors.

peared before the special grand jury.

Other defendants involved in the case, and who entered pleas of guilty, have been fined or received suspended jail sentences.

Justice Greenberg, assigned to preside at the Extraordinary Term of Supreme Court and hear all proceedings in the "kickback" investigation, was not in Kingston today.

Shortly after Ashby appeared in the court room, Deputy County Clerk Ward B. Tongue received a phone call. After a moment of conversation he announced that the motion for a writ of error coram nobis had been submitted to Justice Greenberg and that a decision would be handed down by the Court at 10 a. m. Monday, August 1.

Tongue announced that Justice Greenberg was "working on it now" and a decision would be given on Monday, Aug. 1, to which time court was adjourned.

Expect Move on Bail

Following the announcement that the application for a writ of error had been submitted to the court, Special Prosecutor Tompkins stated that "Ashby is now in custody" but he declined further comment at this time. Tompkins said bail in the case was "still forfeited." It is anticipated a motion will be made Monday to remit the bail since Ashby had surrendered himself to the custody of the court.

A "writ of error coram nobis" if granted would permit a defendant to bring up, after conviction, some point or points which were not known to himself or the court at the time of the trial.

Ashby contends that he was a prospective defendant when he was subpoenaed before the special grand jury and "required" to testify and that his appearance was a violation of his constitutional rights. He further contends that he was illegally before the grand jury and that any oath taken at that time was consequently not a legal oath and that under those circumstances he could not have committed perjury.

Tompkins' Stand

It is the contention of Tompkins that Ashby was not a prospective defendant when he appeared before the Special Grand Jury and "if he had told the truth, he would not have been a defendant."

At the conclusion of the short court proceedings today State Trooper Patrick J. Crowley and Sergeant Francis Steincamp, assigned to the probe, went over to Ashby and escorted him to the receiving room in the sheriff's office where he was booked to begin his sentence.

Asked this morning about published reports that "threats" had been made to various persons involved in the probe, Tompkins passed the matter off lightly. He said "threats" had been received from unknown persons during the probe and confirmed the report that Justice Greenberg had received telephone threats. These threats have been attributed to "cranks."

Has Trooper Guard Here

However, during the time he is in Ulster County, a state trooper has been assigned to accompany Justice Greenberg. Inquiry as to whether a trooper had been "assigned" to shadow him at all times, it was stated that no trooper was assigned to shadow him while he was in New York City.

"That would be the duty of the New York City police department, if they considered it necessary," a member of the State Police remarked.

Trial of the Morgan D. Ryan conspiracy indictment has been set down for Monday, August 1, at 10 a. m. at the court house. A trial jury will be present.

Kuznetsov charged the RB47 was sent into Soviet air space to detect the Soviet Union's system of radar stations and "other military objectives." He said the two surviving crewmen had confessed they were on an intelligence mission.

Lodge in a brief initial reply said the plane was 50 miles off the Soviet coast when it was shot down and that it was never closer than 30 miles to that coast.

Lodge termed Kuznetsov's speech a "sinister fabrication" and a "revolving bit of hypocrisy." He said the plane had been the victim of a "criminal and piratical action" by the Soviet Union.

Stop Loss Orders Explained in Detail

Q) "I have been hearing a lot recently about stop loss orders. Could you tell me just how these operate?" — J. L.

A) There has been so much talk lately about stop loss orders, or more simply stop orders, that I'm going to use today's column to explain this method of profits. A recently published book, which stressed the magic word "profits" and the appealing figure $2,000,000, laid considerable emphasis on the use of stop orders as a means of protecting speculative commitments. The result has been a greatly increased use of the stop order method, which is in part responsible for some wide variations in the price of high flying glamour stocks.

I can explain stop orders best by giving you an example. Let us assume that you bought stock "X" at 100 and that it has moved up to 200. You don't want to see this profit slip away, so you give your broker a stop loss order at 190, which is simply an order to sell if your shares drop to that level. Now your broker will do his damndest to get 190 for you if your stock gets down there, but there is no guarantee that he will do so. What happens is that your stop order becomes a market order as soon as your 190 limit is reached.

Here's where the danger comes in. A lot of other people may feel the same as you do and there may be a flood of stop orders at or slightly above your limit. If the market dips to a point where large stop orders are touched off, a sharp decline can be triggered in which you may get a lot less for your stock than you bargained for. Stop orders are a sound trading method, but you should get your broker's specific advice before you enter such orders, particularly in volatile stocks.

Rocky One of Biggest Attractions in Chicago

By ROBERT T. GRAY

CHICAGO (AP)—"That's Rockefeller."

Chicagoans exchanged this comment thousands of times Sunday. It explained the wail of police sirens that cut across the Sunday morning quiet of the University of Chicago campus.

It accounted for the speeding motorcade that several times brought swimmers running up from Lake Michigan beaches to Lake Shore Drive to see what the excitement was.

It was used by policemen holding up traffic to allow the blue limousine with the escort to roar away from the Sheraton Towers Hotel.

Big Attraction

New York's fast-moving governor, Nelson A. Rockefeller, was one of the biggest attractions in this convention city throughout the weekend.

He began his day Sunday with a breakfast meeting. State officials and other Republican leaders attended.

From there the governor, joined by Mrs. Rockefeller, drove several miles to services in the Rockefeller Memorial Chapel at the University of Chicago.

His grandfather, John D. Rockefeller Sr., donated the money to build the church.

The next stop was the Sheraton-Blackstone Hotel. A crowd estimated at 2,000 filled two rooms for a reception sponsored by the "Draft Rockefeller Committee."

Rockefeller reviewed his policies, thanked the volunteer workers for their efforts on his behalf, gave them no encouragement to continue and did not ask them to quit.

Busy Schedule

The motorcade rode back to his hotel. He had a sandwich for lunch while working on a speech.

Then a dash to the modernistic, Liberty Baptist Church in Chicago's Negro section. Police estimated the crowd there at 5,000, about half in the church, half listening outside over loudspeakers.

Rockefeller was interrupted several times by applause, the loudest when he promised the all Negro audience he would fight on the convention floor, if necessary, for a strong civil rights plank.

The governor later appeared on a special "Meet The Press" program. Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona, who has been a sharp critic of Rockefeller, was interviewed in the first half hour, the governor in the second.

The two prominent Republicans met afterwards, exchanged greetings, introduced members of their families and told each other what a good job they had done on the interview.

The governor's official day ended about 10:30 p. m., after a dinner meeting with the New York delegation.

Mob Scene at Airport

The Rockefeller's arrival at Chicago's Midway Airport Saturday was a mob scene. A surging crowd of photographers and reporters kept him and members of his family from debarking from their private plane for several minutes. Police finally opened a path.

Back in Family Circle

A burly police sergeant shoved a blond young man away from the governor and his family in the airport crowd. "I'm his son," shouted Michael Rockefeller at the policeman. He was quickly brought back inside the circle of police around his family.

Honorary Vice President

William A. Hill, 84, of Binghamton, N. Y., the convention's oldest delegate, was given formal certification Sunday night as honorary vice president of the convention.

He is one of 50 named by national chairman Thurston B. Morton.

The New York group presented Hill a special certificate attesting to his title.

Hill is Browne County Republican chairman, a longtime publisher of The Binghamton Sun and a delegate or alternate to every GOP convention, with one exception, since 1912. He was ill and unable to attend the 1936 convention.

Short Circuit

A short circuit in a light wire on a sewing machine caused a slight fire this morning in the plant of Kay's Dress Co., 57 East Strand. Units from Cornell and Central stations answered a call at 10:50 a. m. An employee checked the fire before firemen arrived.

Hyde Park Man Arraigned for Murder of Wife

Accused of second degree murder in the slaying of his 34-year-old wife in the Town of Clinton on or about July 4, Wilber H. Chapin, 43-year-old Hyde Park automobile mechanic, was arraigned today before Dutchess County Judge John R. Schwartz.

Chapin said he had no funds to obtain counsel, and Judge Schwartz said he would assign an attorney. The case was adjourned until Friday, July 29, and Chapin was remanded to the county jail without bail.

A formal plea of innocent was entered by the court.

Chapin is accused in the indictment of willfully, feloniously and with a design to effect the death of Theresa Chapin "struck, choked and strangled" his wife on Schultz Hill Road, Town of Clinton. The body was discovered on July 5 by an 18-year-old youth.

Chapin, who was employed as a mechanic at Rhinebeck, faces a possible sentence of 20 years to life in prison, if convicted of the second degree murder charge.

Authorities contended that Chapin and his wife argued about money she wanted to use to purchase an automobile.

Coliukos - Bennett Wedding Is Announced; Bride Wears Gown of Chantilly Lace, Tulle

MR. AND MRS. ROBERT C. BENNETT JR.
(Tom Reynolds photo)

Miss Margaret Kathleen Coliukos, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Coliukos of 151 Hoyt Street, Port Ewen, wed Robert C. Bennett Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert C. Bennett Sr., of Halcyn Park, Lake Katrine, on Saturday, July 16 before a Nuptial Mass at Church of the Presentation, Port Ewen.

Officiating for the double ring ceremony and celebrant of the Mass was the Rev. James Lover, CSSR. Miss Dianne Maurer was organist. Selections included Ave Maria, Mother Beloved, Panis Angelicus, Mother at Thy Feet Is Kneeling, and On This Day Oh Beautiful Mother.

The main and side altars were decorated with matching arrangements of white gladioli, majestic daisies and snapdragons. The family pews were marked with white satin bows.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of white Chantilly lace over tulle in floor length featuring a very full skirt, Sabrina neckline and long sleeves ending in points at the wrists. Her crown of orange blossoms and seed pearls held a handrolled fingertip veil of French illusion lace. She carried a cascade of Phalaenopsis orchids, stephanotis and ivy.

Wearing a floor length gown of pale pink silk organza styled with full skirt and draped bodice, was the maid of honor, Miss Joan O'Reilly of Salem Street, Port Ewen.

Even. She carried a fireside basket of pink roses, daisies, snapdragons and ivy.

Bridesmaids were Barbara Bennett, the bridegroom's sister; Barbara Auringer of Port Ewen; Florence Peterson, Port Ewen; and Carol Jordan, Port Ewen. Their gowns were identical in style to that worn by the honor attendant except in colors of yellow, peacock blue, lavender and light turquoise. Their fireside baskets contained roses, snapdragons, daisies and ivy, each arranged to match the color of their respective gowns.

Jack Pidgeon of Spruce Street, Port Edward, was the best man for his cousin. Ushering were Tom Bennett, the bridegroom's brother; Peter Weekly, Kingston; Jack Hines, Kingston; and Henry Jordan of Port Ewen.

Guests were entertained at a reception given in The Tropical Inn, Port Ewen. Approximately 150 attended.

The bride was graduated from Kingston High School with the class of 1959 and is now employed as a secretary by IBM in Kingston. Her husband, an alumnus of South Glens Falls High School, class of 1957, South Glens Falls, N. Y., is employed by the Grand Union-Empire Company.

For her trip to New England, the bride wore a light blue suit with white accessories and a corsage of white Marguerites.

Mr. and Mrs. Bennett Jr., will reside in Port Ewen on Hoyt Street when they return.

INVITING EVERYBODY THEY KNOW

Dear Mrs. Post: My fiancée and I are going to be married in the Fall. Both of our families are in business in this town and we know a great many people who will have to be invited to the wedding. Her family feels that if they send out invitations, they may miss some of the people and perhaps cause ill feelings among the townspeople, and therefore they would like to put a notice in the society column of the local newspaper stating that it will be an open wedding and reception and that everyone is invited to attend. I am against this and feel that unless people receive a personal invitation, they will not come. I know in my particular case I would not attend a wedding without an invitation sent to me personally. I realize it is possible to leave some out but I think it would be better to omit a few rather than run the risk of having many people stay away. I would appreciate your views on this matter.

Answer: I agree with you that a general invitation to everyone, printed in the newspaper, is actually not an invitation to anyone. It will be better to send invitations to all the people both of your families can think of, and try to miss as few as possible.

Dear Mrs. Post: When an acquaintance stops at the house to pay a very short visit, leaving a friend of hers sitting in the car, is it necessary that I give any thought to the person left in the car? I mean, is it up to me to go out to meet her and invite her in, or what?

Answer: If she stops in only for a very few minutes you would do nothing. But if the conversation runs on to any length, you should certainly ask your visitor to bring her friend in.

A Rubber Stamped Return Address

Dear Mrs. Post: I would like very much to have your opinion on the correctness of using a rubber stamp return address on all correspondence—personal or otherwise.

Answer: Apart from formal social usage, a rubber stamped return address would serve a useful purpose and therefore be permissible.

Mrs. Post offers readers leaflets on a variety of subjects concerning etiquette. If you like to have her leaflet, E-25, "Menu For All Occasions," send 10 cents in coin to Dept. Thelma Marie Hahn Weds John Arthur Cuff; Exchange Rings at St. Joseph's Church

It was a double ring wedding for Miss Thelma Marie Hahn of 290 Broadway, this city, and John Arthur Cuff of 29 North Wilbur Avenue, also this city. The ceremony took place on Sunday, July 17 in St. Joseph's Church at 2 p. m. Officiating was the Rev. William E. Williams.

Organ music was provided by Mrs. Frank Rafferty with soloist, Robert Gallo, singing Mother At Thy Feet Is Kneeling and Ave Maria.

After the wedding ceremony, the Given in marriage by her stepfather, the bride wore a gown of rosepoint lace fashioned with a fitted bodice, long sleeves tapered to points over the wrists and a sequin embroidered Sabrina neckline. The full skirt, tiered in lace and shirred tulle, swept back into a chapel length train. A crown of orange blossoms secured the French illusion fingertip veil. She also wore a matching picture hat of shirred tulle and carried Happiness roses with white carnations.

Christine Mayone, the bridegroom's cousin, served as flower girl. She wore ballet blue silk organza and carried a princess basket of assorted flowers.

The bridegroom's brother, William Cuff, served as best man. Ushers were Fred Blank-schen Jr., the bride's uncle; and Ronald Peterson, cousin of the bride, Constant C. Longto, the bride's cousin, was child ring-bearer.

Approximately 120 guests attended the reception given at Aiello's Restaurant, East Chester Street.

Both the bride and her husband were graduated from Kingston High School. The bridegroom is employed by Grand Union-Empire Company on Albany Avenue.

Deborah Kerr Weds Screen Writer in Swiss Town Hall

KLOSTERS, Switzerland, (AP)—British film star Deborah Kerr and American screen writer Peter Viertel were married today.

Screen celebrities attended the civil ceremony performed by Registrar Hans Joes in the town hall of this famed ski resort where Viertel has his home. Screen director Anatole Litvak and writer Irwin Shaw were the witnesses.

Miss Kerr gave her age as 38. Viertel gave his as 40. It was the second marriage for each.

Miss Kerr was formerly married to British television producer Tony Bartley. They had two daughters. Bartley divorced her last year, citing Viertel as a correspondent.

Health for All

The Writing on the Bottle

The doctor pulls his prescription pad toward him and scribbles away like mad for a couple of minutes. All that's needed is the name of the pills and how many of them. What's he doing? Writing his life story?

No, he's writing directions for taking the medicine. The druggist will type them on the label he puts on the bottle—and if you know what's good for you, you'll follow them.

"One tablet three times a day"—That's not the same as three tablets once a day. If you take all three at once, you may get a dangerous overdose. The doctor wants to spread the pills out over the day so the medicine will be working in you all day long.

"Before meals"—Yes, it makes a difference. The medicine may be designed to influence your digestion. The doctor wants it to be waiting in your stomach when food comes down to meet it. Some drugs work faster or have a more powerful effect when taken on an empty stomach.

"After meals"—Some medicines, while doing the job they're supposed to do, tend to upset the stomach. They're less likely to do so if taken into a full stomach rather than an empty one. If the doctor wants to tone down the effect of a drug, he'll tell you to take it after meals. Some sedatives, for instance, would make you drowsy if taken before meals but just calm you down if taken after meals.

Whatever the directions, follow them faithfully. The doctor wasn't just exercising his fountain pen.

POLLY'S QUIZ

Display and Use Sterling—Without Plastic Cover

BY POLLY CRAMER

Dear Polly: My daughter tells me that it is old-fashioned of me to keep my silver tea service out on the sideboard. She says it's just one more thing to clean.

One of my neighbors keeps hers covered with a clear plastic so it won't tarnish. Is that being done now?—Mrs. K. T.

Dear Mrs. K. T.: Unfortunately, it is being done but personally I would far rather see it kept in the cupboard. I belong to the old-fashioned school of thought and prefer using and enjoying my silver even if that means cleaning it more often.

Washing silver in soapy water each week and rinsing it in hot water will delay the tarnishing process.

Dear Polly: I have just painted our bedroom walls and woodwork a bright shocking pink. It was supposed to have been a dusty rose. Please don't tell me to change the color of the walls again. What color should I use for bedspread, drapes and scatter rug? The room has one window.—Mrs. M. W.

Dear Mrs. M. W.: Indeed, I will not tell you to change your wall color. It has far more sparkle than dusty rose. Snowy white Swiss-embroidered curtains, a white quilted, glazed chintz bedspread and a white cotton room-size rug would complete a delightful bedroom.

Dear Polly: What color should we choose for walls and drapes in our new house? The living room set and platform rocker are green; the rug is green-and-gray. Table, chairs are green-and-gray.—Confused.

Dear Confused: I don't blame you for being confused but I think we can save the day. For the living room, yellow walls and woodwork with gray-and-yellow striped curtains would be best.

Slip cover one green chair with a print having yellow flowers on a white or pale gray ground. A couple of cherry red and white cushions would liven up that green sofa.

Kitchen walls could be pearl gray with plaid curtains in gray, pink and green.

Some cooks like to add a halved clove of garlic to the water in which they have cooked green snap beans.

Summer Theatres

Hyde Park Opener

RASHOMON, one of the most exotic plays to be brought to the American stage in a number of years, will open at the Hyde Park Playhouse, located on Route 9 opposite the Vanderbilt Estate in Hyde Park tonight at 8:40 and will play through Saturday, July 30.

Written by Fay and Michael Kanin, RASHOMON is adapted from the most famous of all the Japanese dramas, the stories of Akutagawa. It is a richly told tale of lust and truth which will feature Sam Greene and Mark Gordon in M. David Samples' playhouse production, with Margaret DePriest, Estelle Ritchie and Ruth Volner. Two members of the apprentice staff, Stuart Michaels of New York City and Charles Gilmore Jr., of Saugerties, will also appear.

Brooks Atkinson, internationally renowned critic, acclaimed the recent Broadway production of RASHOMON, "pure art of the theatre—a triumph of stagecraft." The screen version of this fascinating oriental story has achieved even greater critical and audience praise the world over.

O'Casey Play At Woodstock

Woodstock Playhouse will present the work of one of the world's greatest contemporary playwrights, Sean O'Casey tomorrow night at 8:40. It will be PICTURE IN THE HALLWAY, the second of six autobiographical novels written by O'Casey.

The play, in two acts, is set in Dublin and a host of characters ranging from doctors, revolutionaries and ministers to lay people—a total of 19 characters—are all played by five actors.

PICTURES IN THE HALLWAY is a robust and fast moving expression of the young manhood of Sean O'Casey. It is electrifying, humorous and touching.

Mr. O'Casey is world famous for his piercing commentary, wit and sensitivity. The play is unusually staged with a black curtain backdrop and is done with narrator and actors very much in the style which brought the present playhouse company to renown in this area. Last season the Polari Players' production of WHEN I WAS A CHILD was presented in the same manner. It promises to be one of the most unusual and finest dramatic entertainments seen at the Playhouse in many years.

Festival of Baroque Music

Under the auspices of the Foundation for Baroque Music Inc., the second annual Festival of Baroque Music will be held from August 21-27 at the Sagle Music Colony, Schroon Lake, N. Y. The Festival will include public concerts, public lectures, and classes in violin, viola, and harpsichord with emphasis on performance practices of the Baroque era.

The Baroque era in music lasted from about 1600 to 1750, and from the period comes some of the most glorious music ever written, including the masterworks of such composers as Bach, Handel, Purcell, Scarlatti, and Vivaldi. Music of the period is becoming increasingly popular in our concert halls, as was shown by the enthusiastic response of the Adirondack public to the Foundation's first summer Festival in 1959.

Fair Street Reformed Church Is Scene Of Miller-Kalleberg Wedding July 23

MR. AND MRS. ARLING LEIF KALLEBERG (Photo Workshop)

Miss Barbara Ann Miller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. P. Boyd Miller of Kingston, wed Arling Leif Kalleberg, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leif Kalleberg of Brooklyn on Saturday, July 23 at 11 a. m. The ceremony took place at the Fair Street Reformed Church with the Rev. J. Dean Dykstra officiating.

For the occasion, the altar was decorated with altar vases of white gladioli, white Majestic daisies and snapdragons. Mrs. William Rylance was organist and played "Bist Du Bei Mir," by Bach; "Entreat Me Not To Leave Thee," Gounod; and Mollot's "Lord's Prayer." Mrs. William Rylance was soloist.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white silk organza street length dress with a collarless portrait neckline, three-quarter length sleeves and a bouffant skirt accented with a wide white velvet ribbon and flowered bow at the waistline. A flat bow of white silk organza held a short veil. The bride carried a cascade of white phalaenopsis orchids with stephanotis and English ivy.

Miss Elizabeth Westney of Elmira, N. Y., was the maid of honor. She was attired in a street length dress of white embroidered eyelet over aqua. The dress featured a scoop neckline, short sleeves and an aqua satin cummerbund. Miss Westney carried a heart shaped bouquet of pin sweetheart roses and English ivy.

Hjalmar Jorgensen of West Haverstraw, was best man. Brother of the bridegroom, Lloyd Kalleberg of Brooklyn, served as usher.

Mother of the bride wore a simple sheath of pink Irish linen with a scalloped bateau neckline and yoke of embroidered lace with matching accessories. She also wore a corsage of pink cymbidium orchids.

Body of Flier Is Released by Reds, Full Data Secret

MOSCOW (AP)—With a prayer and a brief military farewell, the U. S. Embassy today sent home the body of the pilot of the RB47 reconnaissance plane the Soviet Union shot down July 1.

A Soviet medical certificate said the flier, Capt. Willard G. Palm of Oak Ridge, Tenn., drowned and that his body was found floating in the Barents Sea. The U. S. charge d'affaires, Edward L. Freers, refused to make the full report public because of "legal and political implications."

The body, in its rough wooden coffin, was formally transferred to American custody at a shabby, back-alley morgue. U. S. representatives did not open the coffin. They were told it also contained Palm's flying suit, his shoes and socks and his identification disc.

The embassy provided a station wagon to take the coffin to the airport, but the Russians said the law required it be carried in a refrigerated truck. Instead it was put on an open, canvas-topped Soviet army truck. Ten Soviet privates rode on the truck, and a cortege of American Embassy cars followed. The soldiers got off en route at a barracks.

At the airport eight uniformed officers of the embassy military staff draped an American flag over the coffin and carried it to saw horses set up beside the KLM plane flying it to Amsterdam.

At Amsterdam the body will be turned over to the U. S. Air Force, which will fly it back to the United States.

The Soviet Union is holding the two surviving crewmen of the plane for trial as spies. The other three crew members are missing and presumed dead.

New Surgery Reported Help For Dizziness, Deafness

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — Thousands of victims of Meniere's disease, which causes loss of balance, dizziness, deafness and other symptoms, may gain relief through a new surgical technique, Albany Medical Center reports.

A research team headed by Dr. Samuel R. Powers Jr., professor of surgery at Albany Medical College, developed the operation, the center said Sunday in its annual report.

Only a few patients have undergone the operation thus far, the report said, but the surgery "promises to result in better health and happiness for many thousands of people throughout the world."

The operation involves separation of the power neck muscle so that the muscle cannot compress the artery that carries blood to the head.

Research indicated that unusual placement of the vertebral artery may be the underlying cause of disease symptoms, the report said.

Physicians explained that, when the artery is in a certain position, it can be compressed between the spinal column and neck muscle, cutting off the flow of blood to the head temporarily.

The research team theorized that the intermittent cutting off of blood to the head, apparently precipitated by some movements of the head or by emotional tension, resulted in attacks of Meniere's disease.

They reported on 17 patients who underwent the surgery. The patients have been under observation for from 3 to 28 months. Sixteen of the patients, the researchers said, had improved or been completely relieved of vertigo, nausea and vomiting.

Head noises, typical of Meniere's disease, have disappeared in all except two of the patients and the two suffer the noises only intermittently instead of continuously, the doctors said. In addition, six patients reported that their hearing had improved. The research was financed partially by a U. S. Air Force grant.

Hurley Vols Announce Plans for County Fete

Plans for participation in the Ulster County Volunteer Firemen's Association convention and parade July 30 were outlined at a recent meeting of Hurley Fire Department at the firehouse.

Hurley firemen in uniform will meet at the firehouse at 3:30 p. m. to proceed to Kingston for the parade.

Arrangements for the annual clambake were discussed and tickets placed on sale. This year the bake will be at Spring Lake Sunday, Aug. 7.

State Will Need

expanded and made more efficient to meet the need for approximately 600,000 additional qualified craftsmen during the 1960s. The report said.

"If training continues at the present rate," the department said, "the number of persons who will be graduated from apprenticeship - training will meet only 13 per cent of the total needs between 1957 and 1960."

In the professions, the greatest need will be for 150,000 teachers and 10,000 engineers. The department estimated there will be 8,160,000 jobs in the state by 1965, an increase of 11 per cent over 1957, and 8,703,000 jobs by 1970.

Wise Wife Makes Time Ally in Mending Marriage

A wife writes: "Some years ago I discovered that my husband was having an affair with one of the stenographers in his office—a girl at least ten years younger than my husband. "He didn't want me to get a divorce and promised that if I would 'forgive and forget' I could trust him to end the affair immediately. This I know he did. The girl is married now and no longer working at the office—so everything should be all right. "Only it isn't. Our marriage just isn't the same, and I am beginning to wonder if it ever will be. I felt so safe and secure before this happened—now I don't. And my husband often seems restless and unhappy. Do you think our marriage will ever be the same as it once was?"

Probably not. But that is no reason to think it isn't worth saving. Time will ease the tension and embarrassment. Time will help you both forget past unhappiness. Time will bring you closer together.

But you've got to help time a little, too. Never, under any circumstances, remind your husband by a look or a word of the matter you both need to forget. Don't allow yourself to dwell on it in your own mind. And don't fret because the marriage you have put back together after it came close to being broken beyond repair sometimes shows that it has been mended.

Be thankful that it is mended and, without looking back, make each day as happy and pleasant as you possibly can.

You will regain some of your old security if you will always remember that when it came to a showdown your husband chose you, rather than the other woman. That must mean that you were more important to him than she was.

For a brighter, happier marriage, send for a copy of Ruth Millett's new booklet, "How to Have a Happy Husband." Send 25c for each copy to Ruth Millett Reader Service, The Freeman, P. O. Box 489, Dept. A, Radio City Station, New York 19, N. Y.

Leaves From Boyle's Notebook

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

One reason women outlive men seems to be that they are more germ-proof. Of 365 disease conditions, men are more susceptible to 245, women to only 120.

Most kids believe bubble gum is new. Actually it was first introduced in 1906, but it was too sticky for the children of that day. Modern bubble gum, made with a synthetic base, was developed in 1928.

Do you really dislike your job? If you do you are an exception. A recent study showed that 62 per cent of the working public felt they would be no happier with a different job.

What's in a name? Joe Sharp, a member of Sammy Kaye's troupe, has a brother-in-law named Jim Flat.

Queen Elizabeth of England is a lucky monarch, and here's one fact about her more women might envy than her crown—she doesn't have to diet. Two of her favorite foods are grapefruit and roast lamb.

Canine society news: The pooler now has passed the beagle as America's most popular purebred dog. The Chihuahua ranks third and the dachshund fourth. Who can remember when to own an airedale or a collie was a mark of distinction?

Apt definition: Arthur Murray says you can always tell a family man—He is the one whose wallet holds snapshots instead of money.

Speaking of money, here is one more possible proof that women can handle it better than men: Some 10 million U. S. men—compared to only 4 million U. S. women—have had to hock a personal possession in a pawn shop at some time in their life to raise ready cash.

Woodman, spare that tree: Can anyone present recall when people ate indoors and cooked with gas or electricity? Americans now use 350,000 tons of charcoal a year in backyard barbecues, and the industry expects the figure soon to soar to 500,000 tons.

The good old days: In 1895 there were only four automobiles registered in this country.

Can you spell penitentiary correctly? If you can you are a better speller than three out of four adults.

Wisecrack of the week: "The honeymoon is over," says Robert Q. Lewis, "when a fellow would rather see the kitchen in good shape than a good shape in the kitchen."

One way to live longer may be to leave your car parked in the garage on Saturday. Of the 37,800 Americans killed in car accidents, last year, nearly one fifth died in Saturday crashes.

Some romantic motorists have been heard to say "Cars Love Shell." Down-to-earth engineers put it differently. They say that, with Shell's TCP* additive, motorists have the benefit of a major improvement in gasoline. U.S. Patent 2889212 covering gasolines with TCP was granted to Shell for creative research and discovery. Super Shell with TCP will let you discover, perhaps for the first time, how smooth your car can run — how far you can go on a gallon. Your Shell dealer is the man to see.

Braves Capture Lead in NL; Eli Grba Halts Yankee Skid

Defeat Cubs Twice While Giants Stop Pittsburgh, 6-3

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

For the first time since May 30, the National League has a new leader. Pittsburgh finally has given way to the charge of the Milwaukee Braves who have been chewing chunks out of the Pirates lead in recent days.

Just before the All-Star break, the Pirates lead measured 5½ games. The wise men along Broadway had tabbed the Bucs as 1 to 4 favorites to win the pennant.

Milwaukee closed the gap Sunday by whipping Chicago twice 7-5 and 1-0 behind a couple of familiar names, Warren Spahn and Bob Buhl. The Pirates, trailing 6-0, scored San Francisco with three runs in the ninth and had Manager Tom Sheehan digging deep into his bullpen for three pitchers before the Giants finally nailed down a 6-3 victory.

LA Wins Again
Los Angeles, blazing hot with 29 consecutive innings of shutout pitching—27 against the Phillies—blanked the Phils again 9-0. Stan Williams, the big man of the Dodger staff, hit a two-run homer during an eight-run spurt in the third inning and then managed to pitch a 10-hit shutout.

St. Louis came up with two in the ninth with the help of an error by Roy McMillan and a double by Bill White and nipped Cincinnati 6-5. The result left the Cards in fourth place but only one percentage point behind the three-place Dodgers. Behind is four games behind the Braves.

The Braves gave Spahn the support of a 12-hit attack including home runs by Johnny Logan and Joe Adcock as the veteran won his 11th. Buhl tied up with rookie Jim Brewer, up from Houston, in a real pitching duel until Mel Roach doubled with two out in the ninth inning of the second game. It was Buhl's 10th victory.

Rally Is Short

The Giants were rolling with a 6-0 lead on homers by Willie Mays and Bob Schmidt when a blister developed on Billy O'Dell's pitching hand after he walked Dick Groat to lead off the ninth. Johnny Antonelli, the first relief man, was knocked out. Billy Loes, next in line, was thumbed out for arguing with the plate umpire. Mike McCormick finally got the side out.

In the big third inning, Los Angeles sent 11 men to the plate against John Buzhardt and Jim Owens and eight of them got hits. Norm Larker regained the league batting lead at .344 with two of the Dodgers' 15 hits. Cincinnati appeared to have locked up the game with St. Louis when it scored two in the seventh for a 5-3 edge but Stan Musial's homer cut the edge to one run in the eighth and the Cards pulled it out with a rally against Jay Hook and Bill Henry in the ninth.

Chisox Lose 2nd Game of Twinbill Before 60,002 Fans

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

Eli Grba is a name not calculated to strike terror into the hearts of American League hitters. Yet this 25-year-old right-hander, recalled from the Richmond farm in early June, has saved the New York Yankees at a crucial stage.

The Yankees were moaning low Sunday after losing the first game of a doubleheader to Chicago 6-3. The White Sox came into town in second place and proceeded to win three straight from New York. One more defeat and the proud Yankees would have been three games back.

1st Complete Job

Desperate for pitching after the failures of Bob Turley, Whitey Ford and Jim Coates, the Yankees called on Grba. He came through with the first complete game of his brief major-league career and his second victory over the White Sox 8-2. As a result the White Sox' lead was cut to one game. Grba has two of four victories over two seasons in the majors and three of them have been at the expense of Chicago.

Baltimore sneaked into third place, three games back, by edging Detroit 2-1 in 11 innings on Jackie Brandt's fourth hit of the day. Boston dropped Cleveland into fourth place by taking two from the Indians who spent most of the day jawing with umpires. The scores were 10-6 and 7-6.

Washington came within one error of a major league record by making five errors in the seventh inning while losing the first game to Kansas City 6-3. The Senators snapped back 10-2 behind Camilo Pascual.

Pierce Wins First

The Yankee-White Sox double drew the season's largest Yankee Stadium crowd, 60,002. The fans saw Billy Pierce whip the Yankees in the first, with late inning relief help from Turk Lown and Frank Baumann as the Sox pounded Yankee pitching for 12 hits, including Roy Sievers' 16th homer.

Bill Monbouquette and Mike Fornieles, working in relief of Frank Sullivan, were the Boston winners. Terry Williams beat out a bunt. Jimmy Piersall, fined $100 and called on the carpet for Saturday's argument, hid behind the flag-pole in center field during one of the many arguments between Indians and ump. Gary Bell and Jack Harshman were the Cleveland losers.

Brandt's game-winning hit gave Baltimore third place. Chuck Estrada turned in a five-hitter against the Tigers for his 10th victory.

In that wild inning at Washington, shortstop Jose Valdivielso made three errors. Second baseman Bill Gardner and right fielder Dan Dobbek each made one.

U.S. Swimmers Shatter Six World Records in AAU Meet

By DAVE DILES
Associated Press Sports Writer

TOLEDO, Ohio. (AP) — A weekend of record shattering performances that stunned even the most optimistic of the experts has buoyed the United States' Olympic swimming hopes.

Six world records fell during the AAU Men's National Outdoor Swimming and Diving Championships. American and meet standards were toppled in all 14 senior swimming events.

"It's unbelievable," said Gus Stager, the youthful University of Michigan coach who will lead the U.S.A. swimmers into Olympic competition in Rome later this summer. "I don't think I've been at all

Mickey Wright Collapse Gives Title to Rawls

WORCESTER, Mass. (AP) —

The nation's lady professional golfers headed today for the American Open at Minneapolis, aware that even the stars can boot a big one.

They saw Mickey Wright drop a two-stroke halfway lead Saturday in the losing the National Women's Open Golf tourney at the 6,137-yard, par 35-37 — 72 Worcester Country Club course.

It was the first time the willowy blonde from San Diego lost a tournament after taking a first-round lead.

The winner was Betsy Rawls of Spartansburg, S. C. and although this season, she was written off because she was so far off the pace. However, she overcame a seven-stroke lead during the 36-hole play Saturday to take the title and $1,700 in prize money.

For Betsy, it was an unprecedented fourth Open championship, breaking a record she held jointly with the late Babe Zaharias.

Miss Wright was shooting for her third straight title. The first to win two successive titles, in 1958-59, she finished fifth.

12-Run Third Frame Proves To Be Decisive

Lathering ace Mike Ferraro and reliever Ted Bream for 12 runs in a third inning surge, the North Rockland Babe Ruth League All-Stars advanced to the state finals with a 12-6 wallowing of the Kingston Nationals Saturday at Suffern.

The third inning was a nightmare for the locals. It started innocently enough as Ferraro, who was wild, walker Joe Babcock and then Tony Kapunski doubled him to third. After Joe Willet was passed to load the sacks, Ferraro struck out Lou Tavarone.

Then in quick succession, Sal Peluso singled, Bob Herrick walked, Lou Peluso was also passed. Don Ferranti singled. After Ferraro recorded another strikeout, Babcock walked. Steve Kapunski singled and John Willet also singled. That blow knocked out Ferraro and Bream came to the mound.

He walked Tavarone, up for the second time in the inning and then Sal Peluso put the icing on the victory cake with a grand slam homer. Bream settled down after that blow but the locals didn't have enough to do anything but make the scoreboard read a little closer.

John Falvey slammed a homer and single for the Nationals and Bob Ploss came through with three hits. John Sabin also had two safeties, one of them a double. However, the poor pitching was too much for the hitters to overcome.

Action will resume in the local Babe Ruth League tonight with Moose and Vols playing at 6 at the Stadium and Kiwanis facing the 35 Club at Loughran Park at the same time.

Jay Hebert PGA King With 281

By FRITZ HOWELL
Associated Press Sports Writer

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—Jay Hebert finally got even with his kid brother.

The ex-marine, wounded at Iwo Jima, stormed out of a four-way crush Sunday to win the 42nd Professional Golfers' Assn. championship by a stroke, leaving 1947 champion Jim Ferrier, three-time champion Sam Snead, and third-round leader Doug Sanders in his wake.

That should put a stop to the "needing" Jay, 37, has been getting down around his bayou home in Lafayette, La., ever since his brother, Lionel, 32, won the same title three years ago.

The Hebert boys, on the tour only five years, are the only brother act to grab a big-time title since the Smith brothers, Alex and Willie, did it in the National Open around the turn of the century.

Both the Louisianians hit the heights on Ohio courses. Lionel won at Dayton's Miami Valley layout in 1957, the last time the feature was at match play. Jay did it on Firestone Country Club's 7,165-yard "monster" over which par was bettered only 13 times in four days.

Hebert wound up with a par 70 and a 72-hole 281, one over par, with birdies on two of the last four holes. Ferrier, the ex-Australian with the dip in his swing, was second at 282, and Snead and Sanders deadlocked at 283.

Arnold Palmer, famed for his finishes in winning the Masters and Open crowns this year, couldn't make up a stroke on the final 18 with a par 70 and wound up tied for seventh with ex-champion Doug Ford at 286.

Snead, who has "Blown" several big championships with shaky finishes, did it again. With two holes to play he held a stroke lead in a four-way fight for the title. But he bogied the last two to lose three strokes to Hebert.

Hebert picked up $11,000 of the record $63,000 purse, boosting his year's earnings to $33,002. Ferrier almost doubled his previous take with the $5,500 second prize.

Snead and Sanders collected $3,300. Snead, appearing in only 10 tournaments this season, has won $16,916.

Dodger Pitching Blanks Phillies For 29 Innings

By CHARLES MAHER
Associated Press Sports Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The Los Angeles Dodgers, practically written off as one-year wonders a couple of months back, are actually not much worse off today than they were at this time a year ago.

The Dodgers have moved eight games closer to first place in the last month. Today—after scoring three straight shutouts over Philadelphia—they're just four games back of league-leading Milwaukee. On July 25 last year, they were 2½ games out.

As it was in 1959, when the Dodgers came on to win the pennant, pitching has been the primary agent in their recent ride up from the second division.

In their last 12 games at the Coliseum, Dodger pitchers have scored five shutouts, only three fewer than they managed here all last season.

Pitching Streak

In their last 29 innings, Dodger pitchers haven't allowed a run. Twenty-seven of these innings, of course, were against the Phillies, a consideration that may lend something less than heroic stature to the accomplishment. The Phils haven't scored in 33 innings.

Don Drysdale opened the Philadelphia series with a four-hit shutout and Roger Craig followed with a three-hitter. Sunday, the Dodgers picked up their 13th victory in 16 games by demolishing the Phils 9-0. Stan Williams was something less than spectacular as the Phils got to him for 10 hits and got three more men on base on walks. But they still managed to get only two runners as far as third.

The victory was Williams' 10th in 12 decisions and the shutout brought his earned-run average down to 2.38, best among National League starters.

Play Continues In District 16 LL Tournament

Ellenville, Hurley, Highland and Rondout Valley Little League clubs advanced in weekend play in the District 16 tournament and will resume their tournament warfare Tuesday night.

On Friday, Ellenville socked Fallsburgh, 12-5. Then on Saturday, Hurley beat Pine Bush, 6-2; Highland nipped Port Ewen, 2-0; and Rondout Valley squeezed by Town of Ulster, 2-1.

The two Kingston clubs still in contention will play on Tuesday. The Kingston Nationals, who drew a first round bye, will play at Highland. The Kingston Jaycees, winners over the Kingston Americans in their first encounter, will play at the Armory Field against Hurley. In other games, Walden is at Rondout Valley and Kerhonkson-Accord plays at Ellenville.

The roster for the Kingston Nationals includes John Buley, Glen DeWitt and Thomas Davide of the Cubs; Timothy O'Reilly, Thomas Primo, James Henry, George Glaser and Terence Noble of the Pirates; Anthony Costanzi of the Indians; Walter Purhamus, Dennis Klonowski and Gary Kelder of the Tigers; and Jay Hogan and Eugene Smith of the Braves. Jacob Suski is manager and Joseph Spada is the coach.

Semi-finals of the tournament are scheduled Thursday with the championship contest being scheduled for Saturday.

Putting Cops Title ForKonsek

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP)—"I was happy with my putting. It made the difference today."

Smiling John Konsek of Buffalo pinpointed what had nearly caused his defeat in the early rounds of the New York State Amateur Golf Tournament, which he won Sunday for an unprecedented third time.

The 20-year-old Buffalo district and Big 10 champion took over on the 25th and won six straight holes to beat Eddie Kaczor of Buffalo in the 36-hole final, 8 and 6, at the 5,525-yard Locust Hill Country Club.

Konsek birdied three of the six holes, and Kaczor conceded after hitting his second shot on the 336-yard 30th into a trap, and then going past the pin. Konsek's last blow was a wedge from the rough that stopped three feet short of the pin on the 30th.

It was the 21st consecutive match Konsek had won in state competition.

He will leave the tournament trail in September to enter the University of Buffalo Medical School but might play with the America's Cup amateur team in competition among Canada, Mexico and the U.S. later in the summer. He is first alternate on the U.S. team. He said he might also play in an invitational tourney in Niagara Falls.

Konsek, who beat Kaczor in the Buffalo District tourney last week, 2 and 1, finished the match one under the course's 72 par.

MacKay Victory Boosts US Hopes In Davis Cup

CHICAGO (AP)—Barry MacKay, at the peak of his game after impressively winning the National Clay Courts Tennis Title, today headed the U.S. Davis Cup team toward Mexico City.

The four-man squad of MacKay, Bernard (Tut) Bartenz, Chuck McKinley and Earl Buchholz, are to arrive in the Mexican capital tonight.

They will have nearly two weeks to get acclimated to the high altitude before opening the second round of American Zone Davis Cup competition, which, as in Canada, will be played on clay courts.

The U.S. team trimmed Canada in the first round before arriving at the River Forest Tennis Club here, where the 24-year-old MacKay never was sharper in hammering down the mechanical Bartenz Sunday 4-6, 7-5, 6-4, 6-0, in the finals.

Bartenz, 32, noted as the best clay courts player around, was deprived of his third-straight National Clay Courts title by the heavy hitting MacKay, who scored 13 service aces in the hour and 38 minute match.

In closing out with love-set, the 6-foot-4-inch MacKay had four aces and twice broke Bartenz's service in demolishing his opponent in 15 minutes.

The women's title went to 35-year-old Mrs. Dorothy Head Knodel for the fourth time. The 1951, 1953, 1958 champion defeated 19-year-old Gwyn Thomas of Shaker Heights, Ohio, 6-3, 6-3. Mrs. Head said she now plans to retire from major competition.

The Australian duo of Bob Hewitt and Marty Mulligan captured the doubles championship by downing Martin Biessen of Hinsdale, Ill., and Ramsey Earnhart, Ventura, Calif., 6-3, 6-2, 11-33, 6-4.

Davenport and Mrs. Bostic Scotch Foursome Winners

Maurice Davenport and Mrs. Harvey Bostic carded a net 67 to win first place in the Mixed Scotch foursome Sunday at Wiltwyck Country Club. The winners posted 46-45-91 gross and had 24 handicap for a five under par total.

Leon Randall, club champion, and Mrs. George C. Rifenbary were 2 under par figures with 33-37-87 gross and 11 handicap for 70.

Tied with net 71's were: Dr. George C. Rifenbary and Mrs. Maurice Davenport, 90-19-71; and Bill Marks and Miss Agnes Kennedy, 87-16-71.

Other leading scores:

Charles Bostic-Mrs. Edwin Strohsahl, 91-18-73; Harvey Bostic-Mrs. Joseph McNelis, 88-14-74; Lincoln Christensen-Mrs. Joseph Marr, 104-29-75; John Provenzano-Mrs. Leon Randall, 102-26-76; Ronnie Marks-Mrs. Beatrice Cullum, 81-11-76; Joseph Marr-Dot Kennedy, 102-23-79; Edwin Strohsahl-Mrs. Frank Prior, 95-15-80.

Dutchmen Score Win, 16-15, Over Athens

After experiencing some difficulty winning one-run games, the Saugerties Dutchmen turned the tables around Sunday at Athens and squeaker to a 16-15 Catskill Mountain League triumph. The home side tallied nine runs in the final two frames, but it fell short.

Manager Bill Straub used three hurlers and Jack Houghtaling, who relieved starter Mike Spada, was the winner. However, Barry Wolven had to put out the fire in the ninth inning with a superlative relief job. He fanned the side.

Chick Boice, former Kingston High star, supplied the big blow in the contest with a bases loaded triple. John Nolan collected four hits in five at bats.

Spada, who started, lasted only until the third and his big undoing was wildness. Big Mike walked seven batters.

The Dutchmen are now 4-4 in the circuit, thanks to a forfeit win over Lexington two weeks ago. They will be home this Sunday against Catskill.

Buffalo Raceway Sets Record With Handle of 22 Million

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Batavia Downs opens its 84th night harness racing season to night with a million dollars in purses, more stables, a larger parking area and 14 additional pari-mutuel windows.

Highlighting the stakes program are the $40,000 Batavia Juvenile Stakes, the first on Wednesday; the $12,000 Harness Tracks of America Trot Aug. 20, and the Autumn Gold Series for trotters and for pacers with a total purse of $36,000. The eight-week series begins Sept. 9.

A crowd of 8,373 bet a record $435,677 Saturday night, final night of the season at Buffalo Raceway. The 80-night meeting, longest in the track's history, also set a record total handle of $22,401,187. Total attendance was 415,663.

O'Brien Hanover won Buffalo's $7,500 Championship Pace by three-quarters of a length over Vineddy. The 5-year-old horse, owned by Hugh Grant of Bradford, Pa., and driven by Del Miller, returned $4.70 in the mutuels.

The $15,000 Free-for-all, Junior Free-for-All Handicap Trot went to the rank outsider at Yonkers Raceway when Silver Song caught the pacesetter Air Record in the last 20 yards. The 5-year-old Silver Song paid $38.20.

Favorite Beaten

Harry's Dream nipped favored Mr. Budlong at the wire in the $5,000 Whitehall Pace at Saratoga Raceway, after Mr. Budlong had set a scorching pace with the first quarter in :28 3/5. The race went in 2:01 1/5.

Harry's Dream, a 5-year-old son of Adios, although second choice in the betting, paid $17.30.

Full brothers battled it out in the stretch at Monticello raceway with Van Dyke Hanover winning the $3,000 Invitational Handicap Pace by a neck over Varian Hanover. Van Dyke, parked outside until the three-quarter pole, took the lead there as Varian came from far back to threaten. Eddie Wheeler drove Van Dyke in the 2:03 1/5 mile. The winner returned $4.80.

At Vernon Downs, Hurrah won the $2,500 Invitational Pace, his first victory in 13 starts this season. Bruce Nickells brought the horse from fifth at the top of the stretch to win by three-quarters of a length over Dud Mc in 2:01 1/5. Hurrah paid $18.30.

Bullet Hanover was scratched from the race because of lameness.

Router

MURFREESBORO, Tenn. — (NEA) — Mason Tucker and Robert Richardson were offered $50 each if they could cover the 10 miles from Murfreesboro to Smyrna in less than 300 golf strokes.

Hitting alternate shots, the men completed the journey in eight hours and 275 strokes.

Richardson took one stroke that didn't count. He used a number four wood to kill a snake while in the "rough."

Indians Demand Curb on Piersall

BOSTON (AP)—The Cleveland Indians are on the warpath, and the object of their ire is teammate Jimmy Piersall, the excitable center fielder.

Piersall stayed behind in Boston today for an appearance before American League President Joe Cronin while the rest of the squad packed their war clubs and set off for New York, where they open a four-game series against the Yankees Tuesday.

Team members said they may send a committee to General Manager Frank Lane to demand that he take action to curb Piersall's antics.

One irate player told a reporter the team is on the verge of a revolt, adding that "Lane has got to do something or the entire team will fall apart."

A veteran Tribesman said the Indians "still have a good chance to win the pennant, but not if Piersall remains unchecked. We got a lot of rough decisions from umpires in the Boston series. They lean over backward when Piersall is concerned but take it out on the rest of the players."

Members of the team said they thought the fines that have been levied on Piersall will have little effect.

Cronin called Piersall on the carpet to explain his antics and umpire-baiting tactics.

Piersall, who was fined $100 by Cronin for his actions in Saturday's game with Boston, faces possible drastic disciplinary action. Cronin has the authority to suspend him indefinitely.

"They all think I'm nuts," Piersall said. "I'm just high strung."

Richmond Sweeps 2 From Columbus

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Richmond Vees literally muscled their way into second place in the International League—and a pair of young outfielders proved to be the big musclemen.

Kent Hunt and Lee Thomas, the latter just up from Amarillo of the Texas League, each hit two home runs as Richmond swept a doubleheader from Columbus, 8-6 and 9-6. At the same time, Rochester sent the Buffalo Bisons tumbling to third place with a 13-10, 11-inning victory, and an easier 7-2 triumph.

The double victories moved the Red Wings into fourth place past Jersey City, which lost a pair to Miami, 2-1 and 4-3. League-leading Toronto dumped Montreal twice, 3-2 and 7-0, the latter on Bob Chakales' one-hitter.

Griffith Return With Fernandez Is Set Tonight

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Emile Griffith and Jorge Fernandez clash in a return bout tonight that figures to be almost as close as their first thriller.

Griffith, the 22-year-old boxer-puncher from New York, was awarded a split decision over the rallying Argentine at New York's St. Nicholas Arena last June 3. Some of the irate spectators in the smoky old arena tossed chairs and other objects into the ring in protest of the decision.

This time the two welterweights will battle in plush, well-policed Madison Square Garden.

The ten-rounder won't be televised. There won't be a television fight at all this week. The Wednesday night fight this week will be used to cover the action at the Republican Convention in Chicago.

Miami Beach, Fla., has a top pairing for Tuesday night. Kenny Lane, the lightweight and junior welter contender from Muskegon, Mich., takes on lightweight contender Doug Vaillant of Cuba in a 10-rounder.

Heavyweight on the low end of the ranking ladder are featured Wednesday night at Montreal and Portcawl, Wales.

At Montreal, Canadian hopeful Bob Cleroux gets his big test against Roy Harris of Cut and Shoot, Tex. Across the Atlantic, Lanky Mike DeJohn of Syracuse, N. Y., faces Welshman Dick Richardson in a return bout at Portcawl. DeJohn whipped Richardson in a 10-rounder at London last Dec. 1.

Changed

INGLEWOOD, Calif. — (NEA) — Memories were stirred at Hollywood Park when three major stakes winners of yesterday were entered in a $6,500 claiming race.

They were St. Vincent, Fathers Risk and Lightning Jack. St. Vincent beat Determine in the $100,000 San Juan Capistrano Handicap of 1955. Fathers Risk repulsed Terrang in the $50,000 California Breeders' Champion of 56. Lightning Jack turned back Round Table in the $25,000 San Bernardino in '57.

So what happened? The former stars wound up fifth, sixth and seventh in a seven-horse field.

U. S. Junior Cuppers Get Win Over Canada

LAKE PLACID, N.Y. (AP) — The United States whipped Canada, 18-6, in an international Junior Tennis tournament between the two countries.

The 24-match, two-day tournament for boys and girls 14-18 ended Saturday. The Americans took a commanding 8-1 lead in the opening matches and never were threatened.

Final Tuneups For Olympians Open in Oregon

EUGENE, Ore. (AP) — "If they want purple buttermilk," Bud Winter said today, "we'll get them purple buttermilk."

Winter is one of the coaches of the United States Olympic track and field team, assembling here for a week of practice to be capped by a meet Saturday.

America's "finest 36" plus alternates, plus four Canadian guest athletes, plus coaches and trainers began today to work out kinks and sluggishness which may have developed in the layoff since the Olympic Trials early this month.

"This is a finishing process," said Ralph Higgins of Oklahoma State College, an assistant coach like Winter of San Jose State. Larry Snyder of Ohio State, head coach, arrived Sunday night. The fourth member of the coaching staff is George Eastmont of Manhattan.

Higgins and Winter agreed the nation's best track and field athletes will need little tutoring. Many may be tense with excitement and anticipation. To help relax them and bring them to the peak of condition, they will get the full attention and cooperation of coaches, even to Winter's "purple buttermilk."

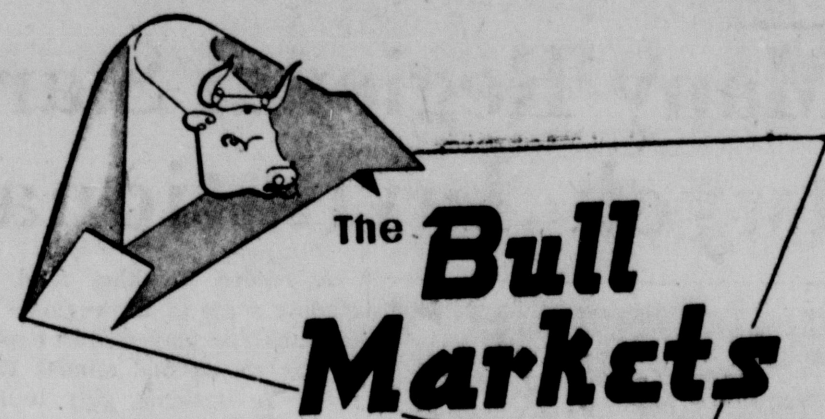

The trip to the Rome Olympics is assured for most of the stars but the three 10,000-meter men still must attain the Olympic qualifying standard before earning a ticket on the Aug. 18 flight to Europe. None of the team's trio in the 10,000 has equalled the time of 29 minutes, 40 seconds necessary for a spot in the start.

Find Body

room door at night and bathed in his underwear, McCordie reported. The coroner said that Powell left a note saying that in his wallet would be found a $5-bill and a $10 bill. He listed their serial numbers.

The note stated that in a second wallet would be found three $1 bills. He also listed their serial numbers. He carried travelers checks in a considerable amount.

Fearful Communists

The coroner said that Powell's fiancée told him that he lived in fear that the Communists would get him.

She described him as mild-mannered, said he didn't drink or smoke and apparently had no bad habits. He was naive, she said, believed anything anybody told him and couldn't understand cruelty.

The coroner said Powell's aunt is en route here from Michigan. Powell received an honorable discharge from the armed forces, the coroner said.

Deputy Sheriff Alf Arnesen of the Ulster County sheriff's office visited the motel with Coroner McCordie on Sunday.

Congress Will Not Be Sounding Board

Is Johnson View

JOHNSON CITY, Tex. (AP) — Lyndon B. Johnson, the Senate majority leader and Democratic vice presidential candidate, says he does not believe Congress will be a sounding board for party platforms or a campaign stump to promote candidacies when it reconvenes Aug. 8.

He believes Congress will stick to its unfinished business and have a short, but productive session, the Texan told a news conference Sunday at his LBJ Ranch near here.

Republicans have been taunting the Democrats to enact laws putting their strong civil rights plank and other proposals adopted by the Democratic National Convention into effect during the upcoming session.

"A platform is drawn up for submission to the voters," Johnson said. "If the voters approve of it they will make their decision in November and it is the duty of the party to carry out the decision in the following congresses."

He reaffirmed his support of the Democratic party platform, saying "I intend to run on the platform."

Johnson, who returned Saturday night from a vacation in Acapulco, Mexico, talked by phone with the presidential nominee, Sen. John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts.

He said he and Kennedy will discuss Congress' work and campaign plans when they confer at Hyannis Port, Mass., Aug. 1 or 2.

Lumumba

Hammarskjold in his first meeting had discussed the general situation in the Congo and the session had been "very fruitful."

"I express my satisfaction for the understanding which has prevailed during our conversation," the premier said in French.

An aide said Lumumba particularly wants the U. N. to send engineers and doctors to the Congo.

When he arrived in New York, Lumumba told newsmen that peace in the Congo depends on "the immediate withdrawal of Belgian troops." He thanked the Security Council for its last resolution and offered friendship to President Eisenhower.

UN Troops in Charge

Hammarskjold announced Saturday night that Belgian troops had finished pulling out of the Leopoldville area, leaving U.N. troops to keep order. Aides said 6,000 men of an eventual 12,000 man U.N. force had been deployed in the Congo to keep order and safeguard the population. Belgium has promised that as fast as the U.N. units take station, she will withdraw her troops to leave the Congo bases. Lumumba wants the Belgian troops to leave the Congo altogether.

Supplies for Congo

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet ship Leninogorsk left Odessa for Africa Sunday night loaded with relief supplies for the Congo. The vessel is carrying 9,000 tons of wheat, more than 1,000 tons of sugar and 300,000 cans of condensed milk, a Tass dispatch said.

Named Commander

MOSCOW (AP) — Marshal Andrei Antonovich Grechko, one of Nikita Khrushchev's closest military advisers, has been named commander of the Warsaw Treaty armed forces.

He is taking over from Marshal Ivan Konev, who has held the job since the Communist counterpart to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization was formed in May 1955.

BATTLE FOR SAVINGS

There is a battle on in America for the savings of millions of thrifty persons. Higher interest rates are the attraction. Letters cross my desk every day asking about shifting accounts to get higher earnings.

The thriftest people in the country are those large armies of savers who have savings and loan association accounts and who are depositors in more than 500 mutual savings banks. Many of them have never owned a common stock and some never will.

The accumulated savings capital in America's savings and loan associations today totals more than $56 billion. Of this amount more than $54 billion is invested in prime mortgages. These institutions presently hold about $1,900,000,000 in cash and have U. S. government securities totaling $4,700,000,000.

Thus, these associations hold a liquid fund capable of discharging deposit withdrawals of about 12 per cent which would seem ample in normal times. But it should constantly be kept in mind that 88 per cent of this savings capital is invested in mortgages which might become non-liquid.

America's mutual savings banks have total deposits of more than $35 billion. This amount is invested as follows: mortgages, $25 billion; U. S. government securities, $6,880,000,000; other marketable securities, $4,875,000,000.

Generally speaking, mutual savings banks are more liquid than savings and loan associations. Savings banks have marketable securities of more than $11,500,000,000 with which to meet the deposit demands of depositors possessing $35 billion.

These institutions are at the very center of America's thrift and savings activities. Most people should have accounts, if for no other reason than to develop a thrift and saving habit. I carry three mutual savings bank accounts myself.

Shifting money from one institution to another to get one quarter or one-half of 1 per cent a year higher return should be carefully looked into. There are rapidly growing sections in the country where the social and economic environment is not yet stabilized and, as a consequence, money rates are higher.

This condition along with the possibility that mortgages might, under certain circumstances, become non-liquid, should cause deposit-shifters to consider carefully before moving.

Whether an investor owns stocks or bonds, whether he is a depositor in a mutual savings bank or a savings and loan association, he should always keep in mind marketability — the privilege of withdrawing his money on demand if and when he wants it, regardless of conditions.

This is the main reason I advocate buying instantly marketable United States Treasury bonds when they are selling to yield a return as good as or better than that of institutions.

I profoundly believe in maintaining savings accounts. But for a second line of financial defense I think a portfolio of Treasury bonds paying good interest rates should be held by investors not interested in common stocks.

Castro Pledges Third Of Sugar Crop to Reds

By HAROLD K. MILKS

HAVANA (AP) — Fidel Castro has bound a third of the Cuban sugar crop—the cornerstone of the country's shaky economy—to the Communist bloc.

For the next five years Cuba has agreed to supply the Soviet Union and Red China 1 1/2 million tons of sugar annually out of a harvest that this year is set at 5,700,000 tons. Shipments to other Communist countries will bring the total Cuban sugar going behind the Iron Curtain to nearly two million tons a year.

The Soviets also have bought the 700,000 tons of sugar President Eisenhower cut from Cuba's 1960 sales to the United States.

The Castro deals with the Communists are largely on a barter basis pegged to world prices. The United States long has been Cuba's best customer at premium prices of 2 to 2 1/2 cents a pound above the world market price. The Soviet Union pays the world price and Red China presumably will do likewise.

Maj. Ernesto Guevara, the Red-leaning president of the Cuban National Bank, signed a five-year pact with a Peiping trade mission

Saturday night to supply Red China a half million tons of sugar a year.

The terms were along the lines of the earlier agreement to send the Soviet Union a million tons a year.

The Cuban-Soviet pact led to the establishment of diplomatic relations between the two countries. The trade agreement with Red China is expected to follow the same course, making Cuba the first nation in the Western Hemisphere to recognize the Peiping regime.
